URGE INDIANA PRIMARY LAW

Both President and Bryan Give Advice to Hoosier Democrats.

IN LETTERS TO SENATOR KERN

Made Public as Date for the Democratic Convention Draws Near.

Washington, March 17. Letters from President Wilson and Secretary Bryan endorsing the movement for a state-wide primary law in Indiana were made public today by Senator Kern. The subject will come up at the Indiana democratic convention of which Senator Kern is to be permanent chairman. Both letters referred to a published interview with the senator lately on the subject.

President Wilson wrote: "I have noticed with unusual interest your interview the other day about the absence of a law for state-wide primaries in Indiana. I was much surprised to learn that so great and wideawake a state was so far behind the procession in a matter of such capital importance and I want to express my deep interest in your efforts to bring about the necessary legislation.

SIX MEN KIDNAP GIRL FROM HOTEL

MINE HOST SLUGGED

Chicago, March 17.—Six armed men early today went to a north side hotel, knocked down the proprietor and at the point of revolvers forced Miss Margaret Miller, 24, to accompany them.

D. Evanoff, proprietor of the hotel, told the police the men entered the hotel and demanded to see the girl. When Evanoff refused to allow them to go to her room he said the men knocked him down. At the point of their revolvers they awoke the young woman and forced her to dress. They dragged her through a rear exit into a waiting automobile, according to Evanoff's story.

Tony Francis, a guest at the hotel, was awakened and when he attempted to interfere was knocked down and locked in a room from which he later escaped, he told the police. The hotel proprietor told the police that one of the men had visited the girl frequently.

First and Second Husbands Sit Down at Same Tea Table

New York, March, 17.—Mrs. Jan Kubelik, wife of the noted violinist, gave an interesting tea party in her apartment at the Ritz-Carlton a day or two ago. The unique feature of it was the personal of the party, which included both her present husband and her first husband, Count Kalman Czarcky. Her first husband's present wife, the Countess Czarcky, was also a guest.

GOING BACK TO TRINIDAD SOON

But "Mother" Jones Does Not Fix a Definite Date for Return.

WATCHING HER PLANS

Denver Col., March 17.—The plans of "Mother" Mary Jones as to her future strike activities were the center of interest today in the Colorado labor controversy. Mrs. Jones had not announced when she would make her return to the strike district where, according to the statement of Adjutant General John Chase, re-arrest awaits her. Officers of the United Mine Workers of America said she certainly would return to Trinidad soon.

The question whether the imprisonment of "Mother" Jones, who has been held in communicado as a military prisoner in San Rafuel hospital in Trinidad since January 12, constituted a violation of constitutional rights, was further deferred by the action late Sunday night of the military authorities releasing the prisoner and automatically suspending habeas corpus proceedings which were to have been filed in the state supreme court yesterday. Circumstances surrounding the departure of "Mother" Jones from Trinidad and her appearance in Denver were given in widely differing versions from strike leaders and state officials. While the aged strike leader said she was entrained by militia guards at Trinidad Sunday night without her consent, Adjutant General John Chase asserted that she was brought to Denver and released upon her expressed wish to interview Governor Ammons, and that the presence of guards on the train on which she arrived in Denver was a mere coincidence. Further developments of the situation does not appear likely until the end of the week when "Mother" Jones said she will return to Trinidad in defiance of General Chase's alleged threat of immediate re-arrest.

CITY OF SYDNEY HITS THE ROCKS

Red Cross Lines Steamer is Doomed Off Nova Scotian Coast.

RESCUE WORK BEGINS

Halifax, N. S., March 17. The steamer City of Sydney, New York for St. Johns, N. F., is on the rocks at Sambro, a few miles from here. She struck during a dense fog early today and water in her stoke hold put out the fires. She carries a number of passengers.

Several vessels were dispatched to her assistance from here and boats have gone out from Sambro. The weather continued extremely thick during the forenoon and boats had difficulty in locating the steamer. The report said that the Sydney had grounded on Stag rock at the southwest entrance to Halifax harbor and was in a dangerous position.

The tug Rosemary reached the stranded steamer during the morning and immediately took off eleven passengers and part of the crew. The Rosemary reported by wireless that the Sydney was in a bad position and likely to be a total lose.

THE ILL-FATED SHIP.

New York, March 17. Sambro island is off the southeast coast of Nova Scotia, about twenty miles south of Halifax. The City of Sydney is of the Red Cross line and sails under a British flag. She left New York for Halifax and St. Johns last Friday, under Captain McDonald. According to Bowring & Co., New York agents of the line, there were about twenty-five passengers on board.

WILL HEAR EVIDENCE.

Governor Sends Service Commissioners to Terre Haute.

Indianapolis, March 17.—Governor Ralston today instructed Charles J. Murphy and James Clark, of the public service commission, to go to Terre Haute Friday to hear evidence in arbitration cases between the Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern Traction company and their employes. The action on the part of Governor Ralston followed a conference with President Todd of the company and the receipt of information that the men at Terre Haute were insisting that evidence be heard in connection with the agreement known as the governor's agreement, signed some time ago.

OWNERS OF AUTOS LIKE OWNERS OF DOGS, IS PLEA.

Washington, March 17.—Because the owners of dogs are responsible for the damage they do, so the owner of automobiles should be responsible for damages they inflict. Such was the argument on which the supreme court was asked today to hold constitutional the Michigan motor law making automobile owners liable for damage inflicted by their automobiles.

Washington, March 17.—Application for pardon by eighteen of the labor leaders convicted in the "dynamiting cases" at Indianapolis was filed today with the department of justice by the prisoners' attorney, Elijah N. Zoline, of Chicago. The petition alleged that the men were innocent and that Judge Albert B. Anderson, who presided over the trial court at Indianapolis when they were convicted, did not give them a fair and impartial trial.

Mr. Zoline announced that at least twenty members of the house and several senators would appear before the department or the president in behalf of the convicted men.

Paris, March 17.—The French cabinet today decided to retain office in spite of the resignation of Joseph Caillaux, minister of finance. M. Caillaux's resignation was made necessary by his wife's assassination of Gauston Calmette, editor of Figaro. M. Caillaux was considered the strongest member of the cabinet.

IN HONOR OF ST. PATRICK

Day is Duly Observed by Irish Citizens of Fort Wayne.

BIG PARADE AS OPENING FEATURE

Young Cadets in Line for First Time—Other Events of the Day.

Irish folk of Fort Wayne and of Allen county are today conducting a festive celebration of St. Patrick's day and in fact all Fort Wayne is paying due respect to the occasion. "The wearin' of the green" was never more widely indulged in the city, according to the pioneer Irishmen, and business houses and residences are bedecked in colors dear to the hearts of all sons of the old sod.

The celebration started at 8 o'clock, when a procession more than four blocks in length, headed by the county council of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, marched through the down town streets and out to St. Patrick's Catholic church, where the observance was solemnized with high mass, celebrated by Rev. Joseph F. Delaney. After listening to a sermon on "The History of St. Patrick" by Rev. Charles F. O'Donnell, of Notre Dame, the procession again came down town and after traversing the Cathedral square, broke ranks at Library hall.

TEACH BRAIN CELL TO DO NEW TRICKS

Under Nerve-Grafting Experiments by Glasgow Surgeon.

IT MAY BE VALUABLE

London, March 17.—The Times reports the result of important nerve grafting experiments recently carried out by Prof. Robert Kennedy, of Glasgow, proving that a brain cell may be taught to perform two separate functions. Each nerve communicates with a particular set of brain sells, which controls its activities. It is supposed that the cells were able to perform only the function allotted to them by nature. Dr. Kennedy made experiments on the foreleg of a dog. He severed all the nerves connecting with muscles below the joint, and then connected all these muscles to the group of nerves controlling flexion or bending.

The dog was for some time unable to direct or co-ordinate its movements. Gradually, however, at about the ninety-third day, this power returned and was completely regained by the hundred and twenty-third day.

The possible applications of the discovery are very wide. For example, the nerves of a withered or useless limb, the function lost by some injury or to disease of the brain, if connected to the nerve trunk leading to a healthy part of that organ, might again recover and convey stimuli. In that case the degenerated muscles would regain power and the infirmity would be cured.

FIGHTS DESPERATELY

Montreal, March 17.—A constable flung himself upon Joseph Beauchamp today as Beauchamp knelt among the mourners at a little girl's funeral in the church of St. Vincent de Paul, and arrested him for murder. Taken unaware, Beauchamp made a desperate struggle to reach his pistol, but the constable got his own gun first and marched his prisoner to jail.

Beauchamp, it is alleged, is one of three bandits who killed Constable Bourdon last Wednesday at St. Laurent. In their search for the murderers the police scoured the province in vain until Beauchamp was seen entering the church here today. A constable followed and waited until the man had knelt among the mourners before he tried to make the capture. The fight that followed broke up the funeral.

"ONE FORTUNATE MANN" NAMED AS CO-RESPONDENT.

New York, March 17.—A co-respondent described as "One fortunate mann," is named in a suit for divorce brought here today by Emil Williman against his wife, Angele Bardey Williman. The plaintiff alleges that "fortunate mann" is now living with Mrs. Williman in Cleveland, Ohio, and asks a decree awarding him the custody of his twelve-year old son, now with her.

Guy Gilbert's Collars

GUY GILBERT likes to look neat and clean. The other day, after a strenuous automobile drive, he found that some mud had become smeared over his collar, so he stepped into a clothing store to get a new one.

"I'll put it right on," said Guy, and he did. As the salesman was wrapping up the soiled collar, Guy observed that it was wearing out and would have to be discarded. Nevertheless he took the wrapped collar and started out. "Say," said he, turning suddenly, "I believe I'll take another collar—two for a quarter?" The salesman affirmed the price estimate, and a second new collar was produced. At the close of the transaction, then, you see, Mr. Gilbert had a clean collar about his neck, a clean collar in a package and a soiled, worn-out collar in another package.

"I might give you this soiled collar to throw away, but I want to take it along to have some fun with it." Here is a description of the fun which he had: When he reached the street he stealthily placed the package containing the soiled collar in a place on the sidewalk close to the building where some pedestrian would find it, pick it up and carry it off, while the perpetrator of the joke stood by to watch proceedings. It worked to a charm. A sprightly young fellow came along, espied the package, gathered it in and thrust it into his overcoat pocket as he hurried along. Guy laughed up his sleeve throughout the day, until, in fact, he reached home, and discovered that he still had the worn-out collar. He had put the wrong package on the sidewalk.

Put it on the sidewalk.

It would hearten democrats everywhere to see this done by Indiana.

"It is remarkable that you should have time and energy to devote to matters of state policy, deeply important as they are, in the midst of your work as chairman of the senate caucus. I am sure all democrats are indebted to you for the intelligence and conscience you have put into that great task."

Mr. Bryan's Letter.

Secretary Bryan wrote: "Before you start for the state convention I desire to thank you for giving out the interview which you did the other day. I feel a personal interest in what your convention does because I have spoken in Indiana more than any other state outside of Nebraska, and one cannot be as well acquainted as I am with your Indiana democrats without feeling an attachment for them and taking a pride in what they do. I earnestly hope that your state convention will declare for a statewide primary election law. The primary has become a settled practice in almost all the states and is destined to be the settled practice of all the states.

"And the same may be said in regard to the initiative and referendum—the two reforms generally going together because the same principle underlies both. I do not see how any objection can be raised to the initiative and referendum; if the people have not only the right to govern themselves but the capacity to do so they should be in position to coerce their representatives into obedience to their will.

"The president's endorsement of the initiative and referendum ought to help you in the fight for these reforms for he has time to demonstrate his devotion to the best and highest interests of the party and the approval which he has won ought to strengthen these reforms."

WILL MEET OPPOSITION.

Bell Says Sentiment in Indiana Is Against Primary Law.

Indianapolis, March 17.—Senator Kern is likely to meet with strong opposition if he endeavors to have the democratic state convention, which meets here on Thursday, endorse a statewide primary law. The story from Washington that President Wilson and Secretary Bryan commended Senator Kern for his attitude on the question was read here with great interest today. Gov. Samuel Ralston, who is to be temporary chairman of the convention; Thomas Taggart, national committeeman; Mayor Joseph E. Bell, of Indianapolis; Maj. C. V. Menzies, of Mt. Vernon, and other leaders have expressed themselves recently against a direct primary law. Mayor Bell, after reading what President Wilson and Secretary Bryan wrote to Senator Kern, said:

"The sentiment among the democrats in Indiana is overwhelmingly against a direct primary law and if they are given an opportunity they will defeat such a proposition by a decisive majority. However, I am in favor of the state submitting the question to a vote of the people as to whether they want a primary vote or not."

Gov. Ralston in a statement a few days ago said he was opposed to a statewide primary and believed this question should be left with the counties and cities of the state.

Mr. Taggart in a speech at the democratic love feast a few weeks ago also took a stand against the proposition. Senator Kern was not chosen as a delegate to the convention at last night's primaries and it is understood he will not be on the committee on resolutions. The statement was made here today that Senator Kern would be made permanent chairman in an effort to sidetrack him from the floor of the convention.

Kern Letter Made Public.

In a letter which Senator Kern wrote to a democratic state leader a few days ago and which was made public today, he said he hoped the convention would endorse what President Wilson's stands for.

"I sincerely hope that the progressive democrats of Indiana," wrote the senator, "may have control of the platform committee or have strong enough representation to bring a report, either majority or minority in favor of the reforms President Wilson stands for. I cannot possibly reach Indianapolis until the evening of the day before the convention and don't know that I will be selected as delegate.

"The business of side tracking certain people seems to be now going on, and I can't combat it, insofar as it affects me, at this distance. But some people don't stay sidetracked."

A caucus of democratic leaders consisting of Governor Ralston, Mayor Bell, Thomas Taggart and nearly all the state officials, was held today when the platform was considered. No one attending the conference would discuss the matter.

List of the Candidates.

The candidates for the various offices are:

sters, who make up two companies of "Irish cadets," now being organized at the Cathedral and at St. Patrick's school. While passing about Cathedral square, the procession was viewed by Rt. Rev. Herman J. Alerding, bishop of the Fort Wayne diocese, and members of the local clergy. Music for the morning celebration was furnished by the Citizens' band. Edward E. Cleary presided as marshal in chief in charge of the street demonstration.

The parade disbanded shortly before 12 o'clock and this afternoon family reunions and informal social gatherings are being held all about the city by those who are making special celebration of the day. Library hall is headquarters for the day and the assembly room of the spacious building is a scene of much merry making. The Fort Wayne Irish people are acting as hosts to those from out of the city, and it is said that many families from all parts of the county cast aside work and business engagements to participate actively in making the day one of interest, and as a result the city has assumed a holiday spirit duly appropriate to the date.

The celebration will close this evening with an entertainment program of ten numbers at Library hall. Addresses will be delivered by Bishop Alerding and members of the local clergy, and one of the principal speeches of the evening will be made by Rev. Charles O'Donnell, Rev. O'Donnell is a member of the Notre Dame faculty. Following the entertainment members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will act as hosts at a buffet luncheon.

CHICAGO IS CELEBRATING.

Joy Bells From Dublin Inaugurate Program at Coliseum.

Chicago, March 17.—St. Patrick's day was observed by Irish-Americans here with appropriate ceremony today. A set of joy bells from Dublin announced the opening of the celebration at the Coliseum, where bits of shamrock had been placed for 15,000 persons. A piece of sod cut from a hill near St. Patrick's rock in county Armagh, Ireland, was placed on the speaker's stand. Roger Sullivan was the principal speaker at this celebration. After the address there were Irish folk dances and singing in Gaelic.

At the celebration of the Irish Fellowship club Mayor Harrison and wife were guests of honor and United States Senator Gilbert Hitchcock, of Nebraska, spoke on "Centralization of Power, the American Danger."

At the celebration held by the Ancient Order of Hibernians Dudley F. Malone, collector of the port of New York; Francis Kelley, president of the Catholic Church Extension society, and Archbishop Quigley were orators.

WOMEN BARRED FROM PARADE.

New York Committee Refuses Them Permission to March.

New York, March 17. Applications of women and women's organizations to take part in today's parade in honor of the feast of St. Patrick, were refused by the celebration committee. While no explanation was given for barring women, the committee said the plan applied to suffragists, many of whom had arranged to march in the parade. The parade was made up of forty bands, 103 patriotic, benevolent and social organizations, besides sixty divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. In all 20,000 men passed the reviewing stand in which were Cardinal Farley, Governor Glynn, Mayor Mitchel, Senator O'Gorman and other prominent men.

The observance of St. Patrick's day began with a mass this morning at St. Patrick's cathedral in honor of the feast of St. Patrick.

Komp, Robert Mercer and Alva Hadley. This list is subject to changes and additions.

A. S. Watkins Speaks.

Hon. Aaron S. Watkins, of Columbus, O., arrived in the city at noon, and in an interview at the convention he stated that he will not be a candidate again for the vice presidency on the prohibition ticket. He declared, however, that W. G. Calderwood, state chairman of Minnesota, is a likely candidate for the place, and among those who are considered for presidential timber are Charles Scanlon, general secretary of the Presbyterian Temperance society, and D. A. Poling, of Ohio, one of the young leaders of the party.

Mr. Watkins was the principal speaker at the afternoon meeting, and in comparing the prohibition party with other political organizations said that it was the oldest party because of the fact that the others change so frequently.

"We have been in the game forty years without power and yet we are still living," he said. "The prohibition party is also the broadest in its program. We advocate equal suffrage and the party is not a class organization or a sectional political organization.

"It makes no special appeal to any class or to labor but covers all the great questions in its platform and none are left out. Some of the things we advocate are:

"Direct election of senators, the election of president for one term only, civil service reform, international arbitration, arbitration between capital and labor and postal reform.

Mr. Watkins will speak this evening on the subject, "The Case Against Liquor."

Opening of the Meeting.

Addressing the opening session of the convention of Allen county prohibitionists this morning at the assembly room of the court house, J. R. Schmidt, of Indianapolis, chairman of the state committee, declared that the time is now ripe for the prohibition party to gain recognition as successful combatants for a righteous cause and at the close of his speech he took the lead in mapping out a working program to be followed in Allen county during the next campaign.

Mr. Schmidt declared that men of today want to be called prohibitionists. He said it is the big issue of modern times and in comparing what he termed a change in the political map of the United States cited the split in the republican party and the birth of another political offspring, the progressive party, and the country-wide agitation against the liquor traffic through legislation.

"It's popular to be against the liquor traffic today," he stated. "Now that we are getting political prohibition why should we be disheartened over losses in the past? We should be up and fighting now all the time because the prohibition party has a better chance now than ever before. Now is our time. They say at the end of each campaign that we have gone out of business, but I want to tell you that we always show up again in greater numbers and with better fighting strength at the beginning of each campaign. We are introducing God and the spirit of righteousness into politics."

In closing Mr. Schmidt urged the county workers to get busy at once and suggested that the Allen county prohibition committee advertise their cause in the newspapers daily for two months during the coming campaign. He declared that the results would more than pay for the financial outlay entered into in purchasing advertising space.

Select Committees.

The convention was opened at 9 o'clock by County Chairman W. S. Hackett and a devotional service was led by Rev. C. M. Hollopeter, of Monroeville. R. S. Stephans was elected permanent secretary and at a motion of A. S. Covall it was voted to defer the report of the nominating committee until ten days prior to the state convention next June. Committees were appointed as follows:

Heroines of the Fire.

Miss Charlotte Donnell, of Wisconsset, Maine, and Miss Virginia Moffatt, of Orange, N. J., both seniors, were the heroines of the fire. They occupied rooms on the third floor under the laboratory, where the fire originated supposedly from spontaneous combustion. Their rooms faced the court around which the building was constructed and the glare of the flames aroused them. Miss Moffatt saw a bright light reflected on the transom over her door and springing from her bed rushed into the hall, where she met Miss Donnell. "There is a fire," she cried. Miss Donnell replied, "I'll ring the fire alarm, while you call the girls."

Suiting action to word, Miss Donnell ran down a flight of stairs and started the fire gong on the second floor. Miss Moffatt hurried along the halls pounding on every door. She did not yell "fire," but commanded: "Put on your wraps quickly."

All Were Aroused.

Miss Donnell then joined the others and together they roused all those who had not already responded to the gong. Soon the halls were filled with startled young women. Some carried personal effects in their arms, but the greater number had not waited to save their belongings. The halls were already filled with smoke as the girls formed in line and marched from the building. The village volunteer fire brigade was early in action and made sure that none of the sleepers was left to the flames. Once outside several of the girls sought to reenter the building to save valuable papers in the offices.

Miss Mary Smith, of Westchester, Pa., secretary to the dean, made a bold dash into the dean's office on the fifth floor and with the aid of Edward C. Monahan, an employe, saved most of the dean's records.

Founder's Widow Watches.

Mrs. Henry Durrant, widow of the founder of the college, who is 90 years of age, witnessed the fire, being taken to the scene in a wheel chair. Fire companies from Newton and Natick responded to an alarm, but were unable to stay the flames, which were burning themselves out when the students assembled at chapel at 9 o'clock.

President Ellen S. Pendleton announced that the college would be closed until the spring vacation, April 7. The president asked all who could to make arrangements to leave Wellesley today so that accommodations could be had for those who would be obliged to remain.

Scores of telegrams asking that money and clothing be sent from their homes were dispatched by the students. Officials of the college made arrangements to provide funds for any who were in immediate need and citizens threw open their homes to the students.

The college telephone switch board was located in the burned building and telephone communication with the outside world was cut off soon after the fire started. Miss Rachael Freeman made her way to the nearest long distance line and calling up Boston gave the first news to the press.

DEATH COMES TO WELL KNOWN MAN

months and his death was not unexpected. His illness was due to disease of the stomach and later other complications developed, hastening his death.

Aaron Greensfelder was known as one of Fort Wayne's most jovial and good natured characters and it is safe to say there is hardly a person whose duties bring them to the business district of the city who did not know Aaron Greensfelder. His friends were numbered from every walk of life and during his illness hardly a day passed without scores of inquiries concerning his condition.

He was born in Fort Wayne February 21, 1863, and was a son of the late Gustave Greensfelder, a well known tradesman. He was educated in the public schools of the city and had been a lifelong member of the Jewish congregation of Achduth Veshalom. He was also affiliated with other Jewish organizations of the city and was a member of Sol D. Bayless lodge, F. & A. M., and of Phoenix lodge, Knights of Pythias.

After leaving school Mr. Greensfelder engaged in business and had somewhat of a varied commercial career. For more than twenty years he was employed at the White Fruit house. At one time he owned a shoe store at Logansport and in recent years he had been in business for himself, conducting a merchandise brokerage establishment with offices in the Schmitz block, corner of Washington boulevard and Calhoun street.

His father died seventeen years ago, and one brother also preceded him in death. Surviving he leaves one brother, Ely Greensfelder, of Logansport, and one sister, Mollie Greensfelder, of Fort Wayne.

Funeral services Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the residence, Rabbi Meyer Lovitch officiating. Friends are kindly asked to omit flowers.

The fire commissioner announced he soon would make a test case of one of the theaters that the courts might decide whether he had power to revoke the licenses. NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

CHILD EATS STRYCHNINE TABLETS.

Montpelier, Ind., March 17.—The little four year old child of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fetty, of Keystone, ate some strychnine tablets and went into a convulsion. Two physicians worked with the little one for several hours before it was out of danger. The tablets were old medicine, which Mrs. Fetty had laid up on the shelf some time ago, and while she was busy with her household duties, the baby climbed upon a chair and got the tablets and when discovered about ten o'clock it had fifteen of them in its mouth. Mr. Fetty took them out, and asked the child if it had swallowed any of them, and it said it had not. No ill effects were noticed, and the Fetty's thought the child just put them into its mouth before being discovered.

AGED MAN BADLY HURT.

Decatur, Ind., March 17.—Benjamin Brown, an old soldier, almost eighty years old, residing about two miles from Willshire and just across the state line in Ohio, was the victim of painful injuries when he fell down the cellar stairway at his home. He was found by a daughter, Miss Nellie Brown, in an apparently unconscious condition, lying in the cellar at the foot of the stairway. Dr. Roller, of Willshire, O., the family physician, was called. When he arrived he found Mr. Brown's condition such that assistance in caring for him was necessary, and Dr. Reed, of Wren, was called into the case.

An examination revealed the fact that an artery and several veins had been severed. The wound was dressed and a number of stitches were necessary to close it up.

The combatants were Charles (Dutch) Wise and a fellow familiarly known as Scotty who has been about the city for the past few months and has been employed at the sale barns of the Decatur Horse Sale company. BIG MARKET FOR EGGS.

Hartford City, Ind., March 17.—Saturday was one of the biggest days for eggs in Hartford City grocery stores, for the past several months. It is estimated that over three thousand dozen eggs were brought to the city by farmers and sold at eighteen cents per dozen bringing nearly one thousand dollars. Despite the great amount of eggs received Saturday the price remained the same Monday, probably because of the fact that the eggs, or a large part of them, will be shipped out of town, leaving the market here normal. Eggs will be plentiful for the next few months, farmers say.

Easy Way to Remove Freckles and Eruptions

Some women have skin of such texture they occasionally are annoyed by the sudden appearance of freckles, slight eruptions or fine lines. March winds usually play havoc with skins of that kind. In such cases if one will procure an ounce of common mercolized wax at any drug store, apply a little of it before retiring, like cold cream, she can easily overcome the trouble. When the wax is washed off next morning, flaky skin particles come with it. The entire outer cuticle is removed in this way in a week or so, with all its defects. No bleach could so effectually remove freckles or blemishes. The new surface is smooth, clear, fresh looking. No pain or inconvenience accompanies this simple treatment.

In case of wrinkles which sink beneath the outer skin, a solution of saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in ½ pt. witch hazel, makes a face bath which is wonderfully effective.

This Home-Made Cough Syrup Will Surprise You

Costs Little, but there is Nothing Better at any Price. Fully Guaranteed.

Here is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough almost instantly, and will usually conquer an ordinary cough in 24 hours. This recipe makes a pint—enough for a whole family. You couldn't buy as much or as good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. This keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children like it. Braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

You probably know the medical value of pine in treating bronchial asthma, bronchitis, spasmodic croup and whooping cough. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Just One Thing Missing—

¶ And that one thing is—the presence of the pianist in person.

¶ Everything else is there. The clear, ringing melody—the phrasing—the tempo—the shading—the individuality of the musician who played the composition are faithfully recorded and perfectly reproduced by the Apollo Reproducing Player Piano.

¶ This is the twentieth century musical instrument. It is in a distinct class of its own simply because it automatically reproduces the hand playing of master pianists in all its perfection.

Don't fail to hear the wonderful new Apollo Reproducing Player Piano. If only for the sake of musical enjoyment, drop in and hear it demonstrate itself.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Matthew 20:1-16.

1 For the kingdom of heaven is like unto a man who is a householder, which went out early in the morning to hire labourers into his vineyard.

2 And when he had agreed with the labourers for a penny a day, he sent them into his vineyard.

3 And he went out about the third hour, and saw others standing idle in the marketplace,

4 And said unto them: Go ye also into the vineyard, and whatsoever is right I will give you. And they went their way.

5 Again he went out about the sixth and ninth hour, and did likewise.

6 And about the eleventh hour he went out, and found others standing idle, and saith unto them, Why stand ye here all the day idle?

7 They say unto him, Because no man hath hired us. He saith unto them, Go ye also into the vineyard; and whatsoever is right, that shall ye receive.

8 So even when was come, the lord of the vineyard, Call the labourers, and give them their hire, beginning from the last unto the first.

9 And when they came that were hired about the eleventh hour, they received every man a penny.

10 But when the first came, they supposed that they should have received more; and they likewise received every man a penny.

11 And when they had received it, they murmured against the goodman of the house.

12 Saying, These last, have wrought but one hour, and thou hast made them equal unto us, which have borne the burden and heat of the day.

13 But he answered one of them, and said, Friend, I do thee no wrong: didst not thou agree with me for a penny?

14 Take that thine is, and go thy way: I will give unto this last, even as unto thee.

15 Is it not lawful for me to do what I will with mine own? Is thine eye evil, because I am good?

16 So the last shall be first, and the first last: for many be called, but few chosen.

Guessing on the Platform

Quite apart from the assortment of lively skirmishes for nomination before the democratic state convention Thursday, there is a manifestly widespread interest in the probable platform action of the convention, and a favorite diversion among the political dopesters just now is the game of guessing on the make-up of that document. It may be safely assumed, of course, that there will be unqualified endorsement of President Wilson and his administration, the state administration and the Indiana representation in congress. Despite criticism that has been hurled at the organization by the new democratic league, there is likely to be little ground left for questioning the fealty of Indiana democracy to the Wilson regime.

There is likely to be a serious hitch on the question of a declaration for primary election reform, for with substantial support for it there is also pronounced opposition in some quarters. It is one of the issues, however, that will be prominent by reason of the president's recent declaration in favor of primaries. Those who hope to see the democrats in Indiana this year take a stand for equal suffrage are doubtless doomed to disappointment, and on the liquor question the logic of politics will probably impel the convention to take no steps beyond backing up the present liquor laws. It is certain, however, that the "dry" sentiment in the party will urge a declaration for a constitutional convention, whether or no the call submitted by the legislature for the next election is endorsed by a majority of the voters or not.

There will doubtless be a pledge of legislation in behalf of the working classes, and not unlikely a declaration for a workmen's compensation law. We take it that the party leaders will recognize the fact that the people will expect and demand a definite stand for progressive policies in state affairs, and that any reactionary or evasive course will be merely inviting defeat. There must be left no doubt as to the good faith and the sincerity of Indiana democracy in its pledges of economy, reform and advanced stand on the questions which will make up the issues in the coming battle.

State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne, at Chicago, sizzles with righteous indignation at the prevailing situation there under which he says it is impossible to secure a jury to convict a woman charged with murder. Mr. Hoyne is moved to the observation by a series of acquittals as the termination of a number of recent murder trials in which Chicago women were defendants, and he scores jurors for yielding to the blandishments of good looks, floods of tears and predisposition to fainting attacks. Mr. Hoyne seems to have forgotten the potency of these varieties of feminine argument in other avenues as well as in the courts of justice. They are usually as effective in court as out of it in bringing mere man around to the feminine view of things.

Postmaster Hanna places new emphasis upon the necessity for numbering of houses in citing the fact that it greatly facilitates the delivery of mail. The movement to spur up those who have been negligent in this regard is not only timely, but important. While the practice is generally followed, it has been neglected in many instances in the newer portions of the city. Fort Wayne is growing so rapidly that the numbering of stores and houses is the more essential on that account.

It is beginning to be evident that there are a number of republican leaders in Fort Wayne who will insist that a good many of their former party associates undergo a political eugenics test before they are permitted to sit once more in high party councils.

CHEER, ALL YE IRISHMEN! JOHN REDMOND CABLES YOU MESSAGE OF JOY FOR HOME RULE!

By JOHN REDMOND.

Nationalist Leader in House of Commons.

(Special Cable, Copyrighted 1914, to the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

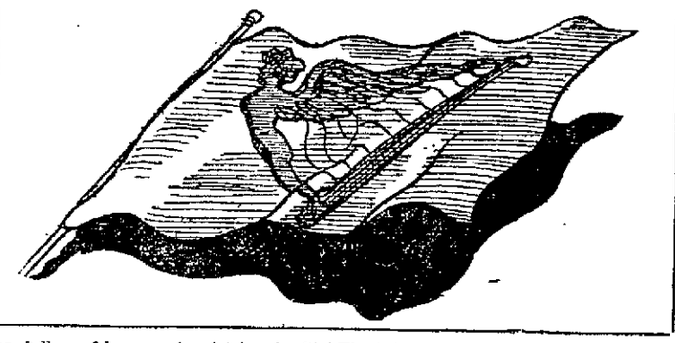
London, March 17.—I am glad to be able to send a message to fellow countrymen in America on this St. Patrick's day. I am especially glad to have the privilege of doing this through the daughter (our correspondent, Mary Boyle O'Reilly) of one of the greatest

John Redmond

Irish-Americans of the past, John Boyle O'Reilly.

Irishmen in America and all sympathizers with the Irish cause have reason for full confidence and rejoicing in St. Patrick's day.

The idea that the cause has met with a set-back which is now being sedulously circulated by our enemies is absurd. WITHIN THE NEXT FEW WEEKS THE HOME RULE BILL WILL HAVE PASSED through the house of commons for the third time in this parliament. By the operation of the parliament act that BILL WILL BE THE LAW OF THE LAND BEFORE MIDSUMMER. Of this I have not the slightest particle of doubt.



What has occurred is simply this: The Irish nationalists have again given proof of their ardent desire to unite Irishmen of all races and creeds into one nation.

Every person acquainted with the real facts in Ireland knows that because of reasons largely historical a great deal of religious suspicion and distrust is to be found among our Protestant fellow countrymen in Ulster. Even the elaborate safeguards in the bill are not sufficient to entirely allay their fear.

The proposal the government makes is to allow any county in Ulster that likes, to vote itself out of the operation of the home rule bill for six years. It is intended to allow all men to see that by the wise, tolerant government carried on by the new Irish parliament, fears are groundless.

By this proposal the nationalists of Ireland show how anxious they are to conciliate their Protestant brethren in the north and how absolutely confident they are of a successful, tolerant, working of home rule.

For my part I would be glad if the proposal had been accepted as, naturally, I HATE THE IDEA OF APPLYING COERCION to any section of the Irish population. Unfortunately, however, extremists among our opponents carried the day and our generous offer was refused almost with insult.

THE RESULT WILL BE THAT THE BILL WILL PASS AS IT STANDS.

NO FURTHER CONCESSION OF ANY SORT WILL BE OFFERED BY THE GOVERNMENT OR TOLERATED BY THE IRISH PARTY.

One good will result from what has happened and that is this: If any disturbance is cause by Ulster after the rejection of this offer, there will be no public opinion in England sympathetic with the disturbers.

(Signed.) JOHN REDMOND.

His eyes in the direction of an indignant clergyman.

V.

Because an anti-Irish Irishman, Sir Boyle Roche, who a hundred years ago helped to sell his country to England, used to clown for English applause by expressing himself in carefully prepared bulls, the world came to assume that a bull was always Hibernian, no matter where it was born. The fact is that, while Ireland's neighbors are more prolific in the matter of bulls than is Ireland, the truly Irish bull alone has breeding to it. Exampli gratia, the bull of Tim Healy. It was during a stormy debate in the British parliament, in the Boer war time, when an indignant Scot, answering the taunt of cowardice flung at a Scotch regiment by an Irish M. P., proclaimed that "under the frieze coat of an Irishman there never beat a braver heart than under the kilt of a Highlandman." Then, to the redoubled amusement of the house, sat down upon his silk hat, crushing it like a paper bag. Tim Healy, arising, solemnly congratulated the Scot upon the fortunate fact that when he sat down on his hat his head didn't happen to be in it."

VI.

It was not our jarvey though (it might well have been he) who, endeavoring in his hurry to rush a street crossing, and having a big Belfast policeman of extraordinarily large extremities throw back his mare upon its haunches with the angry demand, "Did you, ye amadan, not see my hand go up, warnin' ye to halt?" replied: "Troth and I did observe a sudden darkness come over things—but meself hadn't time to understan' the why of it, by reason I was so busy keeping the mare from frightenin' at your feet."

Myron T. Clements and John R. Wilson, who enlisted in the regular army three years ago as members of the Seventeenth infantry, returned home Monday, having served out the time of their enlistment.

BUSINESS SENSE.

(Indianapolis News.)

With the state borrowing money at the rate of $200,000 a month, people, we should think, must realize that what we need in Indiana at present time more than anything else is a wise, prudent, businesslike and scientific management of the state's affairs. And what is true of this state is true of all states and of the nation. We have been passing through an era of wild extravagance, both individual and governmental. The agitators, though they have got some good laws on the statute books, have also drained vast sums from the public treasuries. The citizen has been going the same gait. The assumption, apparently, has been that it was possible to go on spending money forever whether one had money or not.

We are, it is believed, approaching a day of reckoning. Men who a short time ago ran gaily past all danger signals are now beginning to understand that a tax is a minus quantity, is just so much brawn taken from the arm of the laborer, so much fertility taken from the soil. We have learned that men can not grow rich and prosperous by paying taxes. With this spirit spreading through the land it seems likely that people will scan more closely than hitherto legislation the effect of which would be to add any considerable sum to public expenditures. They will, it is to be hoped, sit down and calculate the cost. The greatest reform that we could have would be economy in public affairs, together with efficiency of government in the performances of those functions with which it is now charged.

The ledger in this case, as in all other cases, has two sides, debit and credit. It is well that we should not persistently ignore either of them. By the last of next June Indiana will in all probability owe over a million dollars in temporary loans. The new and higher tax rate will then go into effect. Shall we have to have a still higher one? Already we are told that increasing expenditures have the inevitableness of a natural law. There is at least one limit to them, and that is the ability or the willingness of the people to pay taxes. Surely it is a time for caution, prudence and foresight.

SEX SHOWS.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

A New York jury has condemned as an immoral show a white slave film about which at the time of its exhibition there was a good deal of talk about its "sociological lesson," and of interference by police censorship. The judicial trial, however, pinned the issue down to the fact that the production was given simply for the purpose of profit, with no sign at any stage of confining the audiences to those who would be warned or benefited by it, or of extending it to produce moral effect. It was produced simply for the reason that its balancing a little beyond the edge of a delicate subject was expected to draw business and make a profit.

There are very decided signs that plays and moving pictures founded on the sex question have lost their attraction for the public, simply because they have been run into the ground. When that is made plain beyond dispute we shall have another test of the amount of devotion on the part of mov ollies management to the alleged educational character of such exhibition. When the expectation of profit is removed from such exhibitions the exhibitions will also be removed. Managers exhibit productions not for education, but for the money that can be made out of them.

That consideration makes the verdict agree with the common-sense American judgment. In addition there is the undoubted fact that theaters and nickelodeons are not the places for the instructing of boys and girls on the sex question.

SPECIAL "HEALTH WARNING" FOR MARCH.

March is a trying month for the very young and for elderly people. Croup, bronchial colds, lagrippe and pneumonia are to be feared and avoided. Foley's Honey and Tar is a great family medicine that will quickly stop a cough, check the progress of a cold, and relieve inflamed and congested air passages. E. C. Rhodes, Middleton, Ga., says: "La grippe gave me a hacking cough for which I got no relief until I took Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and was soon well of both cough and cold." STORIES OF WIT AND HUMOR.

By SEUMAS MACMANUS.

(Editor's Note.—On St. Patrick's day, last year, there appeared in The Sentinel "Six Irish Stories," erroneously attributed to the Irish poet, novelist and lecturer, Seumas MacManus. Mr. MacManus has protested against this attribution, as he has long kept up a vigorous fight against this type of "Irish humor." His writings in the leading magazines, in books and in his lectures are a practical illustration of the genuine type of Irish wit, humor and story telling.

We are glad to publish on this St. Patrick's day the following article on this subject by Mr. MacManus, with typical stories of Irish humor selected by him. We believe that the false impression made by the previous error as to authorship can be best shown by this article from Mr. MacManus' pen.)

There's a type of American jokesmith (more correctly jackass) who will perpetrate "Irish humor" for his fellows to hee-haw at—and who assumes that the people who are admittedly the keenest and brightest on the world's ridge are one-half lutts and one-half blunderers—that an Irishman cannot open his mouth without putting both his feet in it—that, with the face of a baboon, he talks in baboonish jargon, and that the real recipe for producing "Irish dialect" is to make hash of the English language, salt the dish with a sufficiency of "shure an's" and pepper-dust it with a plentiful sprinkling of "Oi," "yez," "bhoy," "praste" and "be jabbers."

Under my name a year ago such a gentleman set down here "six best Irish stories" that were particularly vile. To take the bad taste off the mouth of those who swallowed last year's, I offer the following genuine and average samples of true Irish wit and humor:

I.

A fair specimen of sardonic Irish humor was that quoted by Mr. Taft while he was still displacing sixty cubic feet of white house atmosphere. Some one asked him what was his favorite joke and he said that no joke tickled him like the old one—the bit of dialogue passing between the barman in the bar and his Irish boss in the back room:

"Is Murphy good for a drink?"

"Has he got it?"

"He has."

"He is."

II.

And the dryest of the dry Irish wit was well exemplified in a story told to me recently by William Allen White, who put the sass in Kansas. When in Ireland some years ago recklessly searching out ancestral records, he, strolling one afternoon through the beautiful Phoenix Park in Dublin, was both amused and amazed at sight of three great big burly Dublin policemen striving to run down a spindly, sickly, ragged little urchin who was putting his puffing pursuers out of breath. Mr. White, turning to a seedy, serious-looking old fellow buried in a newspaper on one of the park benches, asked: "What has the poor little fellow done that these big policemen are chasing him?"

The old fellow, taking his eyes out of the newspaper, looked off a few moments over his bone-rimmed glasses at the ridiculous race, snorted and replied: "The little vagabond pulled up a tree back here and manslaughtered what policemen are not after him." Then, snorting again, he buried himself in his paper.

III.

There is not in Ireland any character more joking, nor yet more bejoked, than the jaunting car driver, the jarvey. And with an eye tipping time, he is the most politic of men also. Riding on the long car that ran around the coast from Sligo to bonny Bundoran, I had the fortune once to be entertained by a wonderful argument upon whisky, its celestial and its infernal qualities, carried on between a publican (saloonkeeper), who sat on the storm side of the car, and a preacher, who sat on the inland side. Some one at length appealed to the jarvey for his opinion on the question. Leaning down toward the publican, who sat under him to the left, the jarvey said: "Whisky is all right." Then looking ahead and flicking a fly from the off horse's ear, continued to the company generally, "in its right place." And finally, leaning down toward the preacher on his right, concluded, "And hell's the place for it."

IV.

Profanity was the next subject taken up by the preacher. The jarvey had his own opinion upon this and pronounced the heretical opinion that "sometimes a rattlin' good cuss, just rapped out while it's white hot, may save ye slathers o' sin." The preacher vigorously protested.

"And after all," replied the jarvey, "wan o' the dandiest cursers the worl ever knew was at the same time wan o' the most notorious saints."

"Whom do you refer to?" asked the preacher.

"Job," replied the jarvey. "I sometimes wish I had his knack."

"That was a very different thing," the preacher protested.

"But then," the jarvey went on, "small thanks to him. He begun the cursin' thrade early."

"Began it early? What do you mean, sir?" asked the preacher.

"Shocking early," said the jarvey. "I wanst read an account of how Job cursed the hour he was born! Gee up, ye hastes," he said, as he lightly flecked his horses with the cracker of his whip, at the same time turning the tail of one of his eyes in the direction of an indignant clergyman.

V.

Because an anti-Irish Irishman, Sir Boyle Roche, who a hundred years ago helped to sell his country to England, used to clown for English applause by expressing himself in carefully prepared bulls, the world came to assume that a bull was always Hibernian, no matter where it was born. Item Welcomed By Many Men

This recipe can be filled at home, so that no one need know of another's troubles, as the ingredients can be obtained separately at any well stocked drug store. They are in regular use and many different prescriptions are constantly being filled with them.

This will prove a welcome bit of information for all those who are overworked, gloomy, despondent, nervous and have trembling limbs, heart palpitation, dizziness, cold extremities, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing, and general inability to act naturally and rationally as others do, because the treatment can be prepared secretly at home and taken without any one's knowledge.

Overworked office men and the many victims of society's late hours and dissipation will, it is said, find the restorative they are in need of.

If the reader decides to try it, get three ounces of ordinary syrup sarsaparilla compound and one ounce compound fluid balmwort; mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom), mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring.

A certain well known medical expert asserts that thousands of men and many women are sufferers all because of dormant circulation of the blood and a consequential impairment of the nervous force, which begets the most dreadful symptoms and untold misery.

CITY LIGHT & POWER WORKS

Phone 340

No. 4 No. 4

Consumers of city electric current are citizens and taxpayers. As citizens and taxpayers they are stockholders in the Municipal Light and Power Works. As such stockholders they are interested in the success of the city's enterprise. They have a greater and more direct interest in what the city lighting plant can do for them.

Notwithstanding they are stockholders, it is service for which they look—service that is satisfactory, service that is rendered at a fair price. Four thousand such stockholders are consumers of city electric current. That they became consumers is proof that they had confidence in the city's ability to serve them well. That they remain consumers is proof that they are rendered good service at a price that is satisfactory. That they became and remain consumers is proof that the city can do and is doing better for them than anybody else.

While they appreciate their civic duties and understand their obligations to their city, they also understand well enough that using and paying for a necessary is not a matter of sentiment. They expect the City of Fort Wayne to "deliver the goods" just as faithfully as they would expect it of a private enterprise.

Is not the fact of their patronage of the City Light and Power Works a convincing demonstration of the good quality of the service rendered by the municipal plant? Does not the testimony of four thousand consumers prove that the City Plant discharges every duty that it owes to those who pay money for the service the city renders?

The City Light and Power Works can serve hunddreds of more consumers who are stockholders and render to each and all the same high quality of service that it now gives to each of the Four Thousand.

INDIAN PRINCESS STIRS NATION'S INTEREST IN TRIBAL SONGS.

Denver, Col., March 17.—To teach the American public that there's more to Indian music than the "tom tom" of the ghost dancer or the sing song of the tribal chants is the mission of Princess Redfeather, great-granddaughter of Chief Tecumseh.

Princess Redfeather, whose tribal name is Tsianina, is a graduate of an American college, and for several years she has been studying history of aboriginal music. A year ago a Denver music teacher discovered that the Indian girl had a rarely beautiful soprano voice; he taught her to sing, and so exceptional is the beauty he developed in her voice that Melba has promised to interest herself in the Shawnee princess.

Princess Redfeather is now making a concert tour of the United States, singing the tribal songs, the elegies and lullabys of her people for the pale-face brethren.

TACKS BIG FINE ON WHISKY RAT

Fred Harris Won't Bother the Old Folks at Home for Some Time.

NEWS OF THE POLICE

Fred Harris, a booze rat and apprenticed loafer, floated over to the jail for a thirty-day lay-off this morning after testimony had convicted him of doing a spell of characteristic deviltry at his home, 715 Cottage avenue. Last evening Harris went home and tried to shake down his mother for $5. She refused to give up and the young man started rough housing under the family roof tree. His brother interfered and had his head pushed through a window for his pains in defense of his mother. Then Harris senior broke into the game and son Frederick was thrown and tied until the police came. Young Harris is a thoroughly bad lot and is a fair sample of the local poolroom product.

Judge Considers the Day.

After posting Martin Duffy and Neversweat John Lee for $5 and costs each for double-teaming a souse, Judge Kerr relented in Duffy's behalf and let him go on parole of honor. Duffy, who is better known as "Happy Hooligan," is a citizen of both hemispheres, has tramped the ground on all five continents, is a vaudeville performer with a lost reputation that once was worth having and a tongue that can trough liquor like a copper wire. With a green Billycock hat and a souse that more than did honor to the dawning of the day of the good saint, Martin warped himself into the path of an officer to whom the Seventeenth of March is as the other three hundred and sixty-four of the calendar. After entertaining the court with his really mouthful of talk, Duffy was coupled up with Lee for a fifteen-day bit at the bastile. And later Judge Kerr considered that a man named Duffy was entitled to some latitude on March 17th. Hence grace and mercy for the delinquent.

Other City Court Cases.

Bill McCarthy, a fresh arrival in this midst, was sent over for fifteen days on a drunk charge. He was arrested by Detective Sergeant Walter Immel last night after making two or three attempts to break through the door at the home of John A. Hogg, 216 West Superior street. When Mrs. Hogg opened the door the first time and saw a stranger confronting her she tried to close it and McCarthy shoved in his foot to prevent her. He went away, but later returned, and then Mr. Hogg called the police.

Bill Horstman got drunk and was locked in his room at 613 Harrison street. Bill chafed under the confinement and kicked a panel or two out of the door and crawled through to liberty. He was drunk enough to be arrested and was. He got $10 and costs this morning and will spend twenty days in jail.

The case against Robert L. and A. J. McClure for assault and battery was continued until Thursday. They are the fellows who staged a brother act at the Macbeth building on West Lewis street by beating up Jess Waikel. It is a pity to spoil the romantic story going round that Bob McClure righted to the station to declare himself guilty of an offense for which his younger brother had been arrested, but the bare bones of the truth is that McClure and McClure were hooked at the same time by Officers George Eisenhut and Nick Petgen and were carted together to the police station, where both were locked up and remained in duress until the afternoon, when bail was forthcoming.

FIND STOLEN PAPERS.

The strong box forcibly removed from the safe at the Pidgeon wholesale millinery store, which was burglarized Sunday morning, March 2, was found this morning by Fred Hohmeyer, an employe of the Gilmartin lumber yard, at Holman and Clinton streets. The box was found under a pile of shingles and contained all the bonds and checks that were stolen at the time of the burglary. An inventory by C. T. Pidgeon today disclosed that practically all the missing papers were in the strong box when it was found. Some of the papers were of great value. The burglars opened the safe by the combination and then wrenched the strong box loose and carried it away.

Pastors Commend "Damaged Goods."

No other single endorsement of "Damaged Goods," as a purpose drama, has been so helpful to Richard Bennett in presenting Eugene Brieux's remarkable play before serious-minded audiences as a letter written to the actor by Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, pastor of the famous Plymouth Church, Brooklyn. Dr. Hillis commended the play from his pulpit last June, and subsequently wrote the following letter to the producer and star:

My Dear Mr. Bennett:—During the past twenty-one years, since I entered public life, I have experienced many exciting hours under the influence of reformer, orator, and actor, but, in this mood of retrospection, I do not know that I have passed through a more thrilling, terrible and yet hopeful experience than last evening while I listened to your interpretation of Eugene Brieux's "Damaged Goods."

I have been following your work with ever deepening interest. It is not too much to say that you have changed the thinking of the people of our country as to the social evil. At last, thank God, this conspiracy of silence is ended. No young man who sees "Damaged Goods" will ever be the same again. If I wanted to build around an innocent boy buttresses of fire and granite, and lend him triple armour against the temptations and the assaults of evil, I would put him for one evening under your influence. That which the teacher, the preacher and the parent have failed to accomplish it as been given to you to achieve. You have done a work for which your generation owes you an immeasurable debt of gratitude.

I shall be delighted to have you use my study of Social Diseases and Heredity in connection with your great reform.

With all good wishes, I am, my dear Mr. Bennett,

Faithfully yours,
(Signed) NEWELL DWIGHT HILLIS

"Damaged Goods" will be presented at the Majestic tomorrow evening with the following cast: Howell Hall, Raymond Bond, Thomas Erwin, George Hanson, J. D. Walsh, Aileen Hackett, Isabelle Winloche, Maude Dickerson, Dasires Stempel, Anna Ashley.

May Irwin in "Widow By Proxy."

"Widow by Proxy," the new farce to exploit Miss May Irwin's genial personality this season, and in which she will be seen at the Majestic Thursday evening, is said to be much better in dramatic structure than have been her plays of other years. The new farce concerns the adventures of Gloria Grey (a singing teacher.) Miss Irwin and her chum, Dolores Pennington, both of them suffering with a surplus of lack of cash.

Gloria Grey is a woman of business. To quote her own words: "She has inherited all of her father's genius for clipping coupons, but alas, she has inherited no coupons to clip."

It would be really a shame to spoil a perfectly good farce with a brief resume of its plots, but even more extensive comment would fail to do justice. Its laugh-producing qualities cannot be imagined from reading a bare description of them. It must be seen in its entirety, with May Irwin in the title role to be appreciated.

Wm. Hodge Saturday Evening Only in "The Road to Happiness."

Wm. T. Hodge in "The Road to Happiness," "a play for everybody," will be offered at the Majestic theater next Saturday evening only, when this popular actor comes here under the direction of Mr. Lee Shubert. It is his second season in this play of optimism.

The art of the majority of actors today is mechanical. Possibly less than 10 per cent. can be called inspirational. Mr. Hodge's acting belongs in the last class, mainly because he realizes it is essential for an actor to feel his role in order, in turn, to translate to the audience the emotions and impressions which should sway him. In the story Violet Hardcastle returns to her native village after a year's absence at boarding school, under circumstances which cast the suspicions of the village folk upon her as being the mother of a foundling discovered upon the porch of her step-father's home. Ben Hardcastle, a stiff-necked hypocrite, is on the point of turning his step-daughter into the street when Jim Whitman (the role played by Mr. Hodge) volunteers to give the wretched and innocent girl shelter with his mother. For this he receives the condemnation of the village and the implacable enmity of Hardcastle, who, from that moment on, concentrates his life to the driving of Whitman from the village. To complicate affairs, Whitman, who is a struggling lawyer, falls in love with Eva Hardcastle, the youngest daughter of Hardcastle, his love finding response in her heart. The interest of the play from this situation on clusters around the futile efforts of Hardcastle to drive Whitman from the town and the earnest efforts of Whitman to regenerate Hardcastle and make him see the folly of his own acts. The poor boy's irresistable optimism and quaint philosophy ultimately win.

AT THE TEMPLE

One of the prettiest exhibitions of athletic skill seen this season is now shown at the Temple theater by Charles Hanlon and George Clifton. The act is billed as "The Unexpected" and it is a surprise as well as a beautiful act. Not a word is spoken during the act and the exhibition of skill is along the line of iron muscles and nicety of balance. The act well deserved the headliner place and is exceedingly high class.

Sam Davis and Laura Walker give "A Lesson in Dancing." These two entertainers present something well worth going to see. Miss Walker has a sweet and appealing voice and she is a graceful foil for Mr. Davis, whose buck and wing dancing is as good as you can find 'em, besides he does a few stunts on his head that are wholly up to date and classy. No wonder they make a hit.

"When Women Rule" is a well acted satire and burlesque on "woman's rights." It is so much of a burlesque that it overdoes, and neither men nor women like the ending, which is too abrupt and too impossible. The idea of the farce is a clever one and it is ably acted, so well in fact that it helps bring out the weakness of the playlet itself. True, farces are supposed to be impossible, but they should be funny when they end and this one is not. However, the act brings much applause and pleases many who see it.

Joe Kennedy, a comedy roller skater, had a predecessor last week who did almost everything on skates, therefore Mr. Kennedy has to "show 'em" to make good. And he does it. He is grace itself as well as skillful and his imitation of the London costermonger dialect is a bit of his comedy that is interesting. Two clever girls, Campbell and Campbell, have a pretty act in which their singing, piano accompaniments and recitations are all good. They gown themselves in good taste and end with "Ole Black Joe" in modern and the old way of singing that brings down the house.

AT THE EMPRESS

Basket ball fans will be interested to know that a game of basket ball is being played three times a day each day this week at the Empress theater and speaking seriously it is a very interesting game. The balls used are larger than the ordinary and the baskets are a bit bigger and of different construction, but the game is played with skill and it is something new in vaudeville for Fort Wayne.

The entire Empress bill is to be commended and among the offerings booked as a headliner is the Five Violin Beauties. They are beauties, they are five and they are violinists. They dance, sing and change costume so often it makes one's head whirl. There are a couple of plump girls, a couple willowy ones and then there is necessarily one of medium height and plumpness and with handsomely set stage, beautiful costumes and superb music, these girls are giving the Empress patrons their money's worth of entertainment. The act is really a novelty in its way and if you see it and don't believe that it's a hard job to play a violin, dance and sing at the same time, just ask the girls.

Grant Gardner in an over decorated military dress is a laugh producer. His fun foundry is perfectly equipped and is working all the time. Incidentally Gardner is appearing in blackface and he has a never exhausting supply of jokes, stories, monologue material and he also plays a cornet. As a rule the audiences don't think he really plays the instrument until the selection he happens to be rendering is almost ended, but he plays all right.

Charles Bachmann and company act an interesting and exciting sketch dealing with the graft game and the generous approval showed by applause speaks well for the merit of the production. The act shows how crooked enforcers of the law attempt to get their "bit" from successful grafters, but in this particular case the detective didn't get his in the usual way. Newport and Stirk have an acrobatic sketch entitled "Fun in a Barber Shop," and the two young men are among the chief laugh manufacturers at the popular playhouse this week.

OKANE PURI TO LAUGH NO MORE

THREE MEN ARE DEAD

(By Fred Boalt)

South Bend, Wash., March 17.—Okane Puri, laughter-loving, laughs no more. The eyes of Okane Puri were made for laughter, but now they weep. The lips of Okane Puri were made for smiling, but now their corners droop.

OKANE PURI, WHO WILL LAUGH NO MORE.

Okane Puri vows she will never laugh again.

For Chrice Okane Puri laughed with eyes and lips, and each time a man died horribly.

Okane Puri was, until recently, the acknowledge belle of Walville, a mill town near here.

She was housekeeper to Mitsui, the foreman and "boss." A silent saturnine man little man, this Mitsui, who ruled the Japanese colony with an iron hand.

No one could work in the mill unless Mitsui willed. He exacted toll of all. He settled disputes, and his word was law. He rewarded or punished as he pleased.

A bad man by all account, yet he loved Okane Puri with a pure, though jealous, love. But Okane laughed at him as she laughed at all men.

"So!" said Mitsui, quietly. "See, then, that you smile no more on one man than another."

Mitsui was the leader of as motley a band as ever slit a throat to turn an honest penny. It numbered 80. Mitsui had three lieutenants,—Deguchi, Koyama and Nakashima—whom he used but did not trust.

He had also a body guard of two. One was Mikagawa, a mill-hand, and the other Yamoto.

Now, Yamoto was not like the others. He is a woodsman, living alone in a cabin in the forest, with only his gun and dog for company. A sullen, savage fellow, rumor has it that he is a miser and has much gold cached in the woods.

Mitsui trusted Mikagawa and Yamoto as he trusted no one else. He ruled by fear.

Trouble began when Koyama smiled on Okane Puri. And Okane smiled back, thinking no evil. Mitsui saw, saw but made no sign.

"Ho!" thought Koyama. "Mitsui is a coward after all."

Nakashima, a backward lover, seeing that the lightning did not smite Koyama, plucked up courage. And he, too smiled on Okane Puri.

Still Mitsui saw and made no sign.

Whereupon Deguchi, dull of wit but of great courage, encircled with his arm the waist of Okane Puri before all the band, before Mitsui himself. But Okane sprang away from him laughing.

Even then Mitsui made no sign.

But one night—it was in November, last year—a party was arranged in the cabin of Yamoto, the woodsman. Deguchi was there. They gambled, and Yamoto shot Deguchi through the brain.

Then with a pencil he drew a line through the name of Deguchi which was written on a slip of paper with two other names. And Mikagawa buried the body of Deguchi in the woods.

Another party was given in the woodsman's cabin. Koyama went to it in fear and trembling. He dared not stay away. He ate and drank, and laughed. They gambled and quarreled. Koyama did not want to quarrel. He died as Deguchi died, and Yamoto drew a line through the second name on his list.

Mikagawa buried the body of Koyama beside that of Deguchi.

A third party was given. Nakashima was the guest. They ate, drank, gambled and quarreled, and Nakashima died. Mikagawa buried the body in the forest beside those of Deguchi and Koyama.

Somebody talked. Mitsui fled to Japan where he is now in custody. Mikagawa confessed and led the officers to the shallow graves in the forest. Yamoto, outlawed, roams the forests, rifle on arm, dog at heel, with posses in pursuit.

Okane Puri is technically under arrest, though not in prison.

Mitsui will be tried in Toyko, as under a recent Japanese law a native of that country can be tried at home for an offense charged abroad.

RETURN OF THE CAPE.

The sleeveless wrap is to make a bid for popularity in the spring. Already in Paris women have gone back with the greatest enthusiasm to the cape, which has been out of favor with fashionable women for many a year, and before long the invasion will be made in our showrooms, where a warm welcome awaits the old-time favorite.

It was about a year ago when the way was paved for the return of the cape by draping the shoulders of evening wraps with deep collars cut or caught up in wing effects. Women took kindly to the idea, and the cape itself is a natural development of the idea.

Fashionable capes in Paris at the moment differ from the old models by being much tighter. Their appearance in general over the slim outline of the modern frock is a great improvement on the early Victorian models, when the cape fell over a crinoline skirt with as much fullness as that in the skirt beneath itself.

NEW WAYS OF DRESSING THE HAIR

With the hair all brushed up from the neck, as in the present fashion, the pendant ringlet is not only a graceful addition, but one that is necessary to the softening of the rather hard outline behind the ears. A well known woman of society follows this fashion, or may be described rather as leading it. Beginning with a single curl on the left side, she now wears two, and her example is followed by other women, to their very great embellishment.

Nowadays the ringlet is a very different thing from its predecessor of the prunes and prisms period associated with hair oil, when the curl was a mass of grease. Its wearer was so careful of it that she could not go out on damp days lest it should go out of curl. She had to put it in paper and keep it there the whole night and day before going to a dance. It was a nuisance and a trouble to her.

But now there are means of keeping the ringlet in form, and as it is never worn save with evening dress, it is not open to the accusation levelled at the curl of former days, viz., of bestowing grease upon the gown.

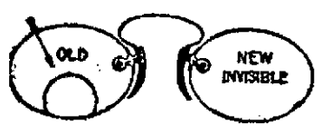
Why They Object



Many persons object to bifocals because they only know the old-fashioned kind with pasted lenses and dirt collecting seams.

Let us furnish you a pair of Toritor Kryptoks, the modern bifocals, which look like single vision glasses. The lenses for far and near are fused into a single piece with no seam.

Grinding Kryptoks for our three offices we maintain a separate department for that work That is why our lenses are better and less expensive.

CAN TIE LETTER TO PARCEL POST

But Each Must Carry Its Respective Rate of Postage.

NEW ORDER IS SIGNED

Washington, March 17.—To further add to the popularity of the parcel post Postmaster General Burleson today signed an order which will permit the attaching of a letter to a package when both bear their respective rates of postage and are addressed to the same individual. The sending of a communication with a parcel package heretofore has not been permissible.

Postal officials point out today that it is of the utmost importance that the sender of merchandise write a letter concerning it and that in order to avoid delay and to facilitate the transaction of business it is highly desirable that the parcels and communications be delivered at the same time. It was with this in mind that today's order was issued. The letter or communication, however, is not to be inclosed in the package, but is to be tied or otherwise securely fastened to the outside in such a manner as to prevent its separation from the package.

CLOSE HEIDELBERG DINING ROOM.

Dan Clemens May Lease it for a Dairy Lunch Room.

As soon as alterations are completed the south room of the Heidelberg hotel, which was formerly the general dining room, will be leased and will probably be operated as a dairy lunch, although the deal has not been consummated, with a Terre Haute man who is seeking the location.

Dan Clemens will conduct a grill room and chop house in the old grill room and the hotel rooms will be conducted by Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Dennis. Mr. Clemens says that the general dining room has never paid as there was little trade during the day and accommodations for after-theater parties were not large enough to bring in revenue sufficient to pay running expenses.

A new front is being put in the old dining room and as soon as this is completed the change will be perfected. In the meantime Mr. Clemens still has his grill room in operation.

SAYS IT'S WORKING OUT WELL.

Wilson Doesn't Foresee Receivership for New Haven Road.

Washington, March 17.—President Wilson let it be known today that he does not foresee any receivership for the New Haven railroad, that he regarded the negotiations between the department of justice and the railroad as proceeding satisfactorily and that the most critical stages in the parleys had been passed. The president looks upon the negotiations as being "equably arranged" and is hopeful of an early settlement.

"There is no reason to believe that the original plan of the department of justice will not be worked out," said Attorney General McReynolds today just before the cabinet meeting. He said the situation was proceeding satisfactorily.

ANOTHER WOMAN ATTACKS.

Young Singer Assaults Vice President of Chamber of Deputies.

Paris, March 17.—A young woman singer assaulted Victor Augagneur, vice president of the chamber of deputies, as he was about to open parliament today. Much excitement was caused by the attack owing to its happening so soon after the assassination of Gaston Calmette, editor of Figaro.

M. Augagneur, who is a deputy from the Rhone department, was entering the parliament hall for the session that was just ready to open when the attack occurred. His assailant was arrested but was later set at liberty. The motive for her action did not become known.

M. Augagneur later presided calmly over the session of the chamber.

JURY STILL OUT IN DAMAGE SUIT

Twenty-four Hours With the Evidence Fails to Bring an Agreement.

NEWS OF THE COURTS

After having spent an entire night and almost a day and devoting twenty-four hours to deliberation of the evidence, the jury in the damage suit of George Middleton against Hilker brothers for $25,000 was still out at 3:30 this afternoon. The case consumed several days in the superior court and the length of time taken by the jury without result is feared to indicate a disagreement. The plaintiff, Middleton, alleges that he received permanent injuries resulting in total disability by the fault of the defendants.

Errington Divorce Case Up.

The suit of Nora C. Errington against Sam J. Errington for divorce was called in the superior court this afternoon, but there was delay of going to trial because it seemed probable that a settlement of the question of alimony could be made without submitting that phase of the suit to the court. The allegations made by Mrs. Errington in her complaint are sensational. The defendant is a deputy United States marshal and well known as a republican politician.

WILL PROSECUTE THE ENCROACHERS

Those Who Put Obstructions in the Rivers Will Be Haled to Court.

THE MUNICIPAL NEWS

Hereafter persons who place obstructions in the rivers of Fort Wayne will be arrested and prosecuted in the city court. This was the decision reached today by the mayor, the board of works and the city attorney. It followed notice served on Busching & Hagerman, the contractors for the big Fisher building, on West Columbia street, who have been dumping a lot of rubbish from the demolished Mayflower mills building into the St. Mary's at the foot of Lafayette street, to find another dumping place. Promise was given that no more rubbish would be put upon the river banks.

Chief of Police Lenz was definitely instructed today to notify all owners of property abutting on the streams that to place any further obstructions in the rivers will expose them to severe penalties. Such offenders will be prosecuted under city ordinances that prohibit the placing of obstructions in any of the natural water courses and empower the board of works to cause such obstructions to be removed. A fine of $50 may be imposed for violation.

Would Take Possession.

Mayor Hosey stated today, following an inspection of property along the river banks, that in his opinion much of the land for which the city is about to begin condemnation proceedings, is clearly in the former natural course of the streams and has been created by filling. He would ascertain this and where that fact can be proved would take possession of it by legal process instead of conducting negotiations for its purchase or fixing the price and getting possession by condemnation proceedings. The mayor declared that surveys would establish that the river courses had been flagrantly encroached upon and that persons are now in possession of and making use of lands that do not belong to them and for which they hold no valid title.

If this view can be upheld in court it will save the city a great deal of money that otherwise will have to be expended to acquire lands necessary to carry out the flood prevention plans.

Will Condemn Much Land.

City Attorney Colerick will institute, as soon as possible, suits in condemnation proceedings to acquire title for the city to thirty or more pieces of property that must be had preliminary to any actual work for prevention of floods. County Attorney E. G. Hoffman and Member Robert E. Kelly, of the board of works, the flood prevention committee's sub-committee to investigate the cost of these lands, have reported that a fair price for them aggregate about $40,000. Proceedings will be instituted under the general law which gives the city power to condemn land for public improvements. The lands it is proposed to secure are needed to increase the channel of the St. Mary's above and below the Spy Run avenue bridge, to straighten the channel of that stream between the Spy Run avenue bridge and the Columbia street bridge, to add a span to the Columbia street bridge and one to the Walton avenue bridge.

NEW SYSTEM WORKS WELL.

Restaurant Man Grades His Place by New Card and Praises It.

City Inspector Eugene A. Schott and Deputy Charles Josse of the health department made two or three experimental inspections of restaurants in order to try out in actual practice the new scoring system adopted by the health department. The results are highly satisfactory. One restaurant let out a protest when shown a card on which his place was graded down to a total of 60 out of a possible 100. Inspector Schott explained the system to the proprietor, who said the system was all right and on the square. He was asked to take a card and go over his own place and scale it according to the system. The proprietor did so and then he surrendered.

"Say, that's on the square," he declared. "It's a bully system and it shows us just where we are shy and how to get right."

His own scoring was practically the same grade as that given him by Inspector Schott and Deputy Josse. The new system, which was devised by Dr. J. H. Gilpin, secretary of the board of health, and Inspector Schott, combines the best points of approved systems in other cities with some original features. The regular restaurant inspection will not begin for some time, the few inspections made being merely experimental.

INTAKE WELL CLEANED.

The cleaning of the big intake well at the No. 1 pumping station was completed today. A large quantity of silt was removed. The draining of the storage reservoir on Lafayette street and the flushing of the mains will be inaugurated at once. The job is one for which there was great need even before Ed Homer jumped into the intake reservoir and drowned himself.

PARK BOARD MEETING.

At tomorrow's meeting of the city park board Ralph Dille, the landscape artist, will submit tentative sketches for the cover design of the forthcoming annual report of the board. Mr. Dille has painted a remarkable group of landscapes in the Fort Wayne parks and in the country about the city. He furnished the cover design and many of the illustrations for the last annual report. The extension of Rudisill boulevard will be again discussed by the board tomorrow.

SAYS KELLEY HAD IT ALL PLANNED

Proposed to Seize Arsenal and Start a Lovely Revolution.

MARCH ON CAPITAL

Sacramento, Cal., March 17.—In a report to the war department in Washington Adjt. Gen. Forbes, of the national guard of California, has given official cognizance of an alleged plan of "Gen." Kelley's unemployed army to seize the federal arsenal at Rock Island, Ill., in order to equip 500,000 men for a revolution against the government.

General Forbes' report is based on one made to him by Lieut. Franklin Grimes, of Sacramento company of the state guard, who joined Kelley's army and acted as a spy. Lieut. Grimes, with a wealth of detail, related how he had gained the confidence of the leaders of the unemployed, who divulged their plans of capturing the United States government. There was to be a gathering of many "armies" at Chicago, according to Grimes, the men reaching that city as best they might. The leaders, according to the militia spy, believed they could assemble 500,000 men there. Then moving in force, they would attack and capture the Rock Island arsenal.

Railroads out of Chicago would be commandered said the lieutenant and the unemployed force, well armed, would be rushed toward Washington where it would have the federal government at its mercy. The plan was then to spread a nation wide rebellion of working men against employers of labor which would depose all civil and military authorities and install the army's leaders as supreme. Grimes declared his informants asserted the movement was being conducted from the east, and that Kelley's force was but a small unit in the whole. Among other remarkable statements was one that the leaders were relying for support on a large Canadian contingent.

OFFICIALS COME; FIND COURT GONE

WINTER EXPLAINS IT

Indianapolis, Ind., March 17.—Terre Haute city officials, including City Attorney Charles S. Batt, Chief of Police John Holler and Wm. Cronin, Marx Meyers and Herman Deming, members of the board of safety, were in federal court today to answer a summons of Judge Francis Baker, but Judge Baker had returned to Chicago on an early train.

The Terre Haute officials had been ordered into court to explain the order prohibiting the public to use the street cars in that city, where a strike was declared Saturday. It was explained to Judge Baker late last night, it became known today, that the order had been cancelled and that conditions there would be normal today.

Ferdinand Winter, counsel for the street car company, made the explanation and said the company did not desire to press the proceedings to include the officials in the injunction to prevent a strike, in view of the changed conditions. Mr. Batt this afternoon went into conference with U. H. Latta of counsel for the street car company and sought to have the suit dismissed entirely rather than have it continued.

Louis Fox, C. B. Fitch, Henry J. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Franke and daughter, Lucile, leave this evening for Fort Myers, Fla., to inspect some grape fruit groves of the Graham Shriver company, which is represented in Fort Wayne by H. G. Butler and H. M. TINKER HAS A LOT OF POOR MATERIAL OUT OF WHICH TO BUILD UP HIS CHICAGO FEDERALS.

By Hugh S. Fullerton.

Shreveport, La., March 17.—It is rather unfair to pick the best, most modern and most interesting of the training camps of the major leaguers, study their training methods and then move to the first camp of a new league, and criticize a team thrown together from all sorts of material.

After watching the old teams, with their perfect organization, their coaches, trainers and veterans at work on established camps with all modern conveniences the Chicago Federal league team looks a bit bushy. It has a lot of wretched material, a poor field, the players strangers to each other and scarcely known to each other. Manager Tinker is hardly acquainted with his own men, nor do they know each other.

But the team he has is a good one good enough to give all comers a battle, if any major league club owned Tinkers' pitching staff it would be figuring on a pennant.

Art Wilson and Jimmy Block are the experienced catchers. Wilson has been McGraw's second string catcher for years. He is a near great catcher. He is a smart, intelligent man, a clever catcher and he wants work. There never has been a chance for him to work steadily. Now he has it. Block is the old White Sox catcher, a slashing right field hitter, a fair catcher, above the average, and a dandy fellow to have on a ball club.

McDonough, a relic of last years' Feds, is with theteam, but te real promise is in little Mulvaney, a Cincinnati lad, a fighting, hustling kid of the Steve O'Neill type. He looks good. Tinker had an eye on him as a catcher for the Reds and brought him to the Feds. Tinked still hopes for Red Killifer, who did a double jump but that is too remote a possibility to count upon.

In Ad Brennan and Hendrix he has two wonderful pitchers, and he has Seaton, the star of the Phillies. Seaton was turned over to the Brooklyn Feds, but wants to stay with Chicago, and President Weeghman is trying to arrange a deal to keep him. With that trio the team is strong enough for anyone. There are Black and Pendergast, McGuire of last year's Feds, Schmidt, Glaser, Watson, who was with the Cubs, and a bunch of others.

There are three first basemen: Beck, Jackson and Kading. Beck has had a lot of major league experience and is a good man. Jackson was one of the stars in the Pacific Northwest.

The infield probably will be Jackson, Farrell, Tinker and Zeider unless Tinker lands the National league star second baseman who wants to join his team. Zeider is a known quantity and a great ball player. Farrell is one of the most promising youngsters in the business, fast, brilliant and a clever lad. He needs training and experience, but working with Tinker will help him a great deal.

Little Alex Zwilling formerly with the White Sox is one outfield fixture. He is one of the best hitters in the game, a slashing left handed batter, spry and quick but not very fast. He failed with the White Sox merely because he was a kid who was having too much fun and who took on too much fat. He is ten pounds lighter than he was then, faster, and he is married and taking life more seriously. Wickland, who was one of the Red's most promising youngsters, is there to fit in at any spot. Walsh looks fair and much is hoped for from Fritz.

FOUGHT IN EAST WITH HURT HAND

Coakley Had "Jimmed" His Right When He Met Kayo Brown.

WILL MIX IT HERE

As an evidence that he did not stall in his fight with George K-O Brown at Grand Rapids, Glen Coakley says he came out of the battle with both hands "jimmed" and that he fought in the east under a severe handicap.

He is right now and the fans will be willing to accept his explanation in good grace in event he shows the proper form in the second meeting with the husky Chicago Greek carded for the Princess rink tomorrow night. This Greek person is a hard hitter and Coakley knows this and he does not want to stop any of his choice blows because he knows that it will not take long to finish the battle.

Coakley said, however, that he had rather have taken a beating the last time the two met than to have given cause for the charge that he was standing off his opponent just to be able to go the full six rounds. With Eddie Santry in the ring there will be a battle or the man who fails to fight will be severely penalized and will not draw his share of the purse.

Brown has never shown here. His real name is unpronounceable but a few years ago he sprung up in one of the Chicago gymnasiums and gave such promise of going to the front in the middle class that the promoters took him up and tried him out thoroughly.

He fell just a little short of championship form but is young and may improve and he is still being carefully watched. His chief stock in trade is an ability to hit, an ability that few men in the ring today possess.

With popular prices and the assurance of a clever bill the house will probably be packed. People who saw Harry McHenry in action here look upon him as one of the most promising youngsters seen in a local ring and a lot of interest is being taken in his go with Battling Higgins, of Uniondale, who is being brought here to see if he can make good his claim that he is as good as any boy of his weight in the country. The first bout will be staged promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

GAINER HAS NEW PLACE IN SIGHT

Would Like to Abandon First Base Job for One in Outfield.

USED TO PLAY THERE

Gulfport, Miss., March 17.—If Manager Jennings is determined to have a right-hand batter in one of his outfield positions, Del Gainer wants to enroll right now as a candidate and give the other Tigers, who are battling for the meadow assignment, an argument.

The big first baseman played in the suburbs early in his baseball career and says that with a month's practice he believes that he could learn to "go and get them" with any outfielder except the real stars. He has been playing in the outlying districts in most of the practice games so far and has contributed a number of good catches and stops which indicate that he knows something of the work.

Gainer firmly believes that he could hit 100 points higher in the outfield than he does on first base. He says that the constant strain in which a baseman is subjected gets on his nerves and hurts his defensive work.

"First base is a hard position to play," says Gainer. "A man is always getting roughed up or stepped on and he has to make a lot of quick turns and twists that play hob with a bad ankle such as I have. I would like to be an outfielder and am willing to bet that with a little practice I can play it twice as well as I ever have played the infield."

It is possible that Del is thinking about shaking off the jinks also. He has had the toughest kind of luck as a first baseman and perhaps he might have a change of fortune for the better if he got away from that place. He is naturally a very fast man and there oughtn't to be any trouble about his covering ground as soon as he learned to judge fly balls. If he could acquire the knack of knowing where they were going to drop, there is every reason to believe that he would get them.

If Gainer really is convinced that he can play the outfield and hit while doing it, Jennings ought to give him a trial. All that Del needs is belief in his own ability and a few good breaks in the luck. He has shown great ability in the batting line for short stretches of time, but something always has happened to throw him off.

This spring he is hammering the ball well in the practice games. He always did smash out the safeties on the Gulfport grounds and usually in the other cities where exhibitions are played. He might prove just the man Jennings needs to fill in the gap that has been yawning for a right-hand hitter with gardening talents.

ZANESVILLE HAS TASH OF SEASON

Friars Show They Can Play the Game and Beat St. Paul.

A VERY ROUGH GAME

Form displayed by the Friars last night when they beat the St. Paul basket ball team in such decisive fashion that no doubt is left as to the relative strength of the clubs, promises that the Zanesville troupe has the real task of the season on its hand for the Friday night engagement at Library hall.

Although St. Paul held its own fairly well in the first half of the engagement the Friars roughed it all the way and evidently realized that superior weight would win in the end and that the lighter club could not stand the gruelling pace. The final score was forty-four to seventeen.

The same club, with the exception of Stroup, whose place will be taken by Dietrich, will do battle against the Zanesville team and will give the husky country lads an awful battle. Bolin will be at center and when it comes to roughing it this player is in a class by himself. He was hissed and justly hissed last night a dozen times and two fist fights came near cropping out of his tactics.

His reputation in basket ball is that he can not hold his head and last night's play indicated that he has earned just such a reputation. Ordinarily a crowd likes to see a game a bit rough—not rough enough to do any injury but just rough enough to be exciting—but Bolin goes beyond this.

In the early stages of the game three rests were necessitated by injury to St. Paul players and it was evident that the light squad had no chance. At that the players were game and fought hard to the finish although they never had a chance to win out.

Every seat was sold for the game and one of the biggest crowds of the season witnessed the game. The crowd was about equally divided in its sympathies and each side had excellent support from its rooters.

This victory settles the differences between the Friar and St. Paul managements as the victors in last night's game also took the first one although it was won by a very narrow margin and was protested but the St. Paul management would not insist on the protest.

Bloody noses were plenty and nearly every player in the game come out with a few bruises to show for it. The players and summary:

Friars. 44.		St. Paul. 17.
Benz	R F	Gerberding
Stroup	L F	Irmscher
Bolin	C	Traum
Yarnelle	R G	Dietrich

SAPPHIRES BEAT AEOLIANS.

In an exciting game last night the Sapphires defeated the Aeolians for the second time this season by a score of 16 to 14. The game was close throughout and the score at the end of the first half was 10 to 7 in favor of the winners. Late in the last half the score was tied and a long shoot by Parker decided the contest. Players and summary:

Sapphires. 16.		Aeolians. 14.

Kruse	G	Daley
Mensch	G	Litot

Appointment of Harry Martin as Manager is a Popular Move Among Local Fans.

HARRY MARTIN. —Sentinel Staff Photo.

Since The Fort Wayne Sentinel suggested to Owner Claude H. Varnell last summer the appointment of Harry Martin as manager and the admission of the owner at the time that he had given the matter more than passing thought, hundreds of local patrons of the game have been pulling for him and there is no use to say that his selection is popular. It will likely meet with general approval.

Relying on Mr. Varnell's judgment the appointment was not strongly urged upon him because he has generally supplied a good man for the head of his club and there is no doubt but that he would have signed either "Topsy" Hartsel or Matty McIntyre if they had been available. His reasons for this are not new.

Big league owners would have relied upon the judgment of either of these men in the matter of purchasing young players. Harry Martin is probably as good a judge as either of the men but he has not proven this to the owners and they naturally lack confidence in his ability to pick good prospects.

Since Martin joined the team he has occupied an advisory capacity and Both Frank Shaughnessy and Jimmy Burke relied greatly on his judgment. Martin is a clean liver, has a good head and ought to be able to develop men and get the best out of his team. Martin is ambitious and he will have a big field to exercise his ambition. He can prove that he knows how to manage a team, how to develop players and that his judgment is good and it is likely that by the end of the season he will have demonstrated his ability in all of these lines.

He is an earnest worker and will be out doing all the time the things he will ask his players to do and he will not allow them to work any more than he would think of shirking so the field looks fair to him and if surface indications count he will certainly start with the good will and the good wishes of the patrons.

CALL IT DEGARDING

Albany, N. Y., March 17.—The Murray bill which seeks to abolish the state athletic commission and stop all professional boxing exhibitions in this state is likely to provide some lively scenes in the legislature.

Assemblyman Martin G. McCue in opening for the opposition, declared that professional boxing was the finest of manly sports.

"Many of you know," exclaimed McCue, "that for years before becoming a member of this body I was a prize fighter. The sport as regulated by law is manly, not brutal or degrading. I wish everything in political life was done as openly and as thoroughly as things are done under the present law in the squared circle." Andrew F. Murray, a New York city progressive, replied with an attack on boxing. "The so-called boxing exhibitions which have been given under the present law," he said, "are in reality brutalizing prize fights and especially degrading to youth. The very first fight under this law was held in New York under the supervision of a member of this legislature. The house was sold out twice, ticket holders were swindled and the performance was disreputable. These exhibitions are controlled by crooked politicians. They are unspeakably degrading."

FEDERAL RAID CLOSED.

Gilmore Says He Is Satisfied With the Clubs In His League.

Chicago, March 17. The campaign of the federal league for major league baseball players is at an end, according to interpretations today placed on a statement of James A. Gilmore, president of the Federals, that he was "well satisfied" with the present line-up of the Federal clubs. President Gilmore said his league was not in urgent need of star players, thereby intimating that the Federals will make no further attempts to sign players from the National and American leagues.

Worth $25 Price to Introduce $8.10

Ballbearing Operated just like a carpet sweeper as illustrated, to which it is in every way superior. Easy to operate, practical and durable.

It is doing daily duty, in thousands of homes—housewives in all parts of the world are using its powerful suction to keep their homes free from dust.

Many housewives are really startled to see the amount of dirt it removes from carpets and rugs which look clean to them—which they thought were clean.

The "Dustless" Vacuum Cleaner requires no electricity, no hand pumping; you simply run it over the floor like a carpet sweeper and the turning of the wheels creates a vacuum which draws all the dust, dirt, germs, moths, etc., from on top and beneath carpets and rugs into a bag inside the sweeper. Thus you actually get rid of the dust instead of stirring it up to breathe or settle again.

With the broom woman fights dirt and dust which is breathed into the lungs and dust is the chief cause of lung disease, especially pneumonia and tuberculosis.

It is dangerous for a child to creep or play on a carpet or rug that is not Vacuum cleaned—because he is right down amongst the bugs and bacteria.

BRYAN BILL IN HIGHEST FAVOR

Deals With Development of the Coal Lands in Alaska.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, March 17.—Of the numerous bills introduced into the house and senate for the development of coal lands in Alaska, following the approval of the Alaska railroad bill, the best bill of its kind is that just introduced by Representative J. W. Bryan, of Washington. None of the bills except the Bryan bill pay any attention to the workers who are to mine the coal. The Bryan bill, on the oother hand in addition to providing a minimum wage which shall not be less than prevailing wages in coal mining industry, includes a provision for an eight-hour day, prohibition of child labor, compensation for accidents, industrial insurance, adequate sanitation, housing and general living conditions, and similar provisions. In addition, and most important of all, the Bryan bill provides for government operation of coal mines on half of the coal lands of Alaska, and the sale of coal to consumers at cost. It allows the remainder of the lands to be leased to private parties under proper conditions. Under the government operations, the employes are made partners in the industry with Uncle Sam. The bill provides that the president shall fix minimum wages for each class of employes, and a maximum price for each class of coal, and that the business shall be conducted between these two margins. If the industry shows a dividend after the payment of all expenses of operation such dividend shall be equally divided between the operatives in the mining service and the purchasers of coal. Each operative is to receive an amount proportioned to his wages for the fiscal year, and each purchaser of coal from the government would receive a rebate proportioned to the amount purchased, through a coupon system or otherwise. This plan, known as "conditional compensation," assures that the interests of producer and consumer of coal shall be identical.

The Bryan bill has been referred to the committee on mines and mining, of the house, but under the house legislative system, not being introduced by a democrat, it has no chance of passage. Its provisions may, however, influence the debate and the eventual moulding of whatever coal bill is placed before the house by the administration.

In New Jersey, where it has been announced that Wilson, while governor, did away with the iniquitous prison labor contract system, there are only 100 prisoners out of the 1,500 who have been taken from the contract prison shops and put at road work. The Smith-Nugent political machine refused money for carrying out the Wilson legislation, and the contract system is still triumphant in the president's state. It is understood that the administration is particularly anxious for that very reason, to push through the Booher-Hughes federal contract labor bill now pending in the senate committee on interstate commerce.

A bitter fight has been in progress over the suffrage amendment before the senate. The opponents of woman suffrage have been trying to bring the matter to a vote, believing that it would be voted down and thus killed for the present congress, thus stopping agitation and lessening criticism of the administration for failure to act. Senators like Ashurst, of Arizona, and Thomas, of Colorado, have co-operated with Lodge, who is officially anti-suffrage, in this plan. The plan found administration support. Democratic senators, nominally in favor of suffrage, realized that the party was being hurt by the criticism directed at the Wilson administration for dodging the woman suffrage issue. The woman's organization in Washington, known as the Congressional union, is planning a nation-wide demonstration for May 2, and feels that the strength of the vote in the senate will be much greater after that demonstration. They are therefore opposing a vote at this time, desiring to defer it until after May 2.

One of the most important and interesting documents published by the senate is No. 399, the report of Postmaster-General Burleson, forwarded to the senate in response to Senator Norris' resolution, giving the evidence on which Burleson demanded the government ownership of telegraphs and telephones.

"Government ownership of the electrical means of transmitting intelligence," says the report, "is brought to the attention of the American people with the endorsement of nearly every postmaster general since the civil war, and by the example of practically every other nation of the civilized world. More than seventy bills have been introduced in congress to accomplish it. Manwhile, the private operation of the telegraphic and telephonic facilities has resulted in a virtual monopoly by which the people are annually taxed vast sums for which they receive no adequate returns."

The evidence which this report presents as to the necessity and desirability of government ownership of wire communication is unanswerable. If you want a copy, write to your senator.

Whitley County News.

Columbia City, Ind., March 17.—While in a despondent mood early Monday morning, Charles Combs, of South Whitley, took eighteen tablets of bi-chloride of mercury at the home of Aaron Martion, of Cleveland township. Although Dr. O. E. Metzger, of South Whitley, was called and with vigorous use of the stomach pump managed to get most of the poison from his system, it is a question whether or not the poison absorbed will prove fatal. Combs has been estranged from his wife and family for several months and continual brooding over the matter led to his rash act.

The Welsheimer and King auto bus had a close call Sunday noon, while returning from a train. The bus, which was driven by Lew King and occupied by Ellis King, Walter Eisman and Donald Leiter, had just crossed the Main street bridge, on its way north to town, when the steering gear broke and the machine headed toward the east, crossed the sidewalk and finally was stopped by a wire fence, stretched along the perpendicular embankment of a sewer.

While at his bath Sunday morning Theodore Essig, of South Whitley, was attacked by his wife, who threw a large bucket full of boiling hot water against him, causing bad burns about the neck, on the left side and along the abdomen. His left arm was also badly scalded, the flesh peeling off from the wounds. He is under the care of Dr. E. M. Webster. Mrs. Essig is subject to a violent hysteria at times and she now shows great remorse for her act.

For the third time this year the firebladies were called to the home of Clint Noble, in response to an alarm sent from a neighboring home. Upon their arrival the fire, which was located around the base of the chimney, had been quenched by members of the family. Little damage resulted.

B. F. Hull, who is suffering from high blood pressure, was a little improved Monday, but the dizzy spells continue to bother him.

L. C. Huber and A. R. Black, of DeGroff, Ohio, who spent several days with John Brumbaugh and family, have left for Pierceton and Wilmot to visit relatives before returning to their home.

Mrs. Henry Auer, just east of the city, is critically ill, as a result of an acute attack of gastritis.

Mrs. William Goudy, of Thornecreek township, who suffered an attack of heart trouble ten days ago, is convalescing and the trained nurse has returned to her home in Fort Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Eisamann, who left a week ago for Winona, Miss., to investigate a lumber deal, arrived home Sunday, having decided not to remain in the south.

A "screech" owl and his mate have been making their official headquarters in the martin box at the home of Mrs. William Clarham. Although it is rather an unusual thing for owls to inhabit bird boxes, the pair in question have evidently willfully decided to violate the conventionalities of the owl kingdom and seem quite content in their home.

Michael Kirby, of South Bend, spent Monday in the city, transacting business and renewing acquaintances with his old home town friends.

Miss Dora Jungkuntz has accepted a position as saleslady at the Hudson Dry Goods store, beginning her duties Monday morning.

Miss Margaret Wynkoop, aged 81, a sister of the ex-sheriff, John Wynkoop, of Taylor Station, is critically ill with pneumonia at the home of her nephew, Cash Wynkoop.

Carl Waterfall and sister, Mrs. John T. Leininger, left Tuesday for Oklahoma City, Okla., to visit a couple of weeks with their brother, Will Waterfall and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Brahm left Sunday for Chicago to visit their son, Walter, who is employed as violinist in an orchestra.

Esta Goudrich, formerly in the grocery business here, and lately employed in the Feaster grocery, has accepted a position at a wholesale grocery firm in Chicago, leaving Monday to begin his duties.

Miss Merle Weick opened her kindergarten class in this city Monday and ten pupils are on the present class roster. Miss Lucy Jones is assisting Miss Weick.

A rather unusual event will be celebrated on Saturday, March 1st, when Mr. and Mrs. George Lawrence will celebrate their sixtieth wedding anniversary by keeping "open house" to all their relatives and close friends. Mr. Lawrence is in his 82nd year and his wife is two years his senior. Their eldest sons, Michael E. Lawrence and John C. Lawrence, live on adjacent farms, and their youngest son, Dr. Harvey S. Lawrence, of Peabody, Kan., is expected to arrive with his family to assist in the celebration. The aged couple have lived in this county over a half century, coming here when all was a wilderness.

SHOULD NUMBER HOUSES.

Postmaster Hanna Says It Would Bring Quicker Service.

Postmaster Robert B. Hanna declares that if all houses in the city were properly numbered it would enable the mail carriers to give the public better and quicker service. Mr. Hanna said:

"Each regular mail carrier is allowed fifteen days' vacation each year.

"When a regular mail carrier is off on vacation or sick leave, his route is canvassed by a substitute carrier.

"Substitute mail carriers are not always thoroughly familiar with the routes to which they are temporarily assigned and, for this reason, they must be guided, largely, by house numbers in the delivery of mail.

"Therefore, in the interest of the patrons of the local postal service, all houses and all store buildings should be numbered."

MOVES ON PICTURE SHOWS.

Muncie, Ind., March 17.—Affidavits charging six proprietors of moving picture shows with violating the Sunday closing law were filed here late yesterday by Chief of Police McIlvaine, as first steps in the campaign to enforce the Sunday blue laws.

Allen lodge, No. 29, Degree of Honor, will meet at Aldine hall this evening. Several applicants will be initiated.

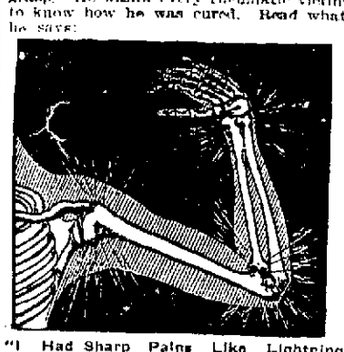
RHEUMATISM

Remarkable Home Cure Given by One Who Had It—He Wants Every Sufferer to Benefit.

Send No Money—Just Your Address.

Years of awful suffering and misery have taught this man, Mark H. Jackson, of Syracuse, New York, how terrible an enemy to human happiness rheumatism is, and have given him sympathy with all unfortunates who are within its grasp. He wants every rheumatic victim to know how he was cured. Read what he says:



"I Had Sharp Pains Like Lightning Flashes Shooting Through My Joints."

"In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally I found a remedy that cured me completely and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long looked for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today. MARK H. JACKSON,

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

PRESIDENT OF D. & H. IS HERE

L. F. Loree Comes to Spend a Day With Relatives and Friends.

SHOPMEN OUT CELEBRATING

Some of Departments Are Crippled by Absence of Patriotic Irishmen.

P. L. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson company, is in the city to spend a day with relatives and friends. He came down from Chicago in his private car on Pennsylvania train No. 40 at noon today and will leave on the same train at noon tomorrow. Mr. Loree was formerly connnected with the Pennsylvania and is pretty well known to the officials and employes of the company in this city.

MAY LOSE A COUPLE FINGERS.

Conductor Jenkins Gets Hand Caught in Derail Rigging.

C. E. Jenkins, a Grand Rapids and Indiana freight conductor, sustained injuries this morning that may result in the loss of one or two fingers. While he was operating a derail at Kalamazoo by hand, the member was caught in such a manner that two of the fingers were badly crushed.

C. & A. ABOLISHES OFFICES.

Material reductions in forces, principally clerical, and the consolidation of several departments have been ordered on the Chicago & Alton lines. This is in line with the road's policy of retrenchment. General forces at the headquarters at Bloomington, Ill., and at other divisional points will be reduced. Among some of the changes reported will be the abolishment of all division engineers and a return to roadmasters. The telegraph department may be merged with another branch of the service. T. H. Haston, superintendent of telegraph, has resigned and G. W. Hulsizer has been appointed to the position. The personal injury department has been merged with the general claim department.

TO ATTEND BOWLING MEET.

The bowling tournament at Buffalo the latter part of the week will be attended by some of the "crack" players of the Pennsylvania shops, as well as players in other vocations. Among the shopmen who will leave Wednesday night for Buffalo will be Edward L. Litot, Ed Heck, Jack Kelley and W. C. Doehrman. The latter will be accompanied by his wife and they will make visits in other parts before returning home. The gentlemen named belong to the He-Mi-La team, formerly the Germanias.

MANY SHOPMEN OUT.

Many of the Irishmen in the shops of the city did not work today because it is a very important holiday, and some of the departments in the shops are more or less crippled. And none is more so than the machine shop of the Pennsylvania. Among the absentees there on account of the holiday are Jerre O'Conner, who never has worked on St. Patrick's day; C. O. Sweeney, John Little, Robert Cran, W. E. Hickey, Neil Dailey, Denny Cleary and Dennis O'Conner.

CRUSHED THUMB IN SHEARS.

H. E. Anspach, a helper in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, had the end of his right thumb badly crushed by getting it between the shears' frame and the slab of iron he was attempting to cut in two. The digit will probably be saved, but it will be very sore for some time and keep Mr. Anspach from work a week or two. The accident happened this morning soon after he commenced work for the day.

TO BE SUNDAY EXCURSIONS.

The Cleveland papers announce that low Sunday rates over most of the lines running into that city will be in force the coming summer. This probably means that the Nickel Plate will again have the popular dollar rate for round trips for distances less than 100 miles.

HAD KNEE DISLOCATED.

O. E. Maxwell, an assistant road foreman of engines of the Pennsylvania, sustained a most painful injury last Saturday and may not be able to take an active part in the work on the road for awhile. He slipped on ice and dislocated one of his knees.

PENNSYLVANIA PAY DAY.

The Pennsylvania shop employes will receive their wages Thursday afternoon and Friday morning. The paymaster will arrive here at noon on Thursday and remain until noon Friday. Bulletins to that effect were posted in the shops yesterday.

TANK SHOP FOREMAN SICK.

Isaac Wise, foreman of the Pennsylvania tank shop, is sick and unable to look after the duties of the office for the first time in several years. George Bowman has charge of affairs during the absence of Mr. Wise.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

H. L. Leach is at work again in the Pennsylvania machine shop, after an illness.

Assistant Road Foreman of Engines R. J. Lyons, of the Pennsylvania, is sick and off duty.

C. Doll, laborer, resigned this morning and will take employment at the Fort Wayne Electric works.

C. E. Scott, machinist, has been transferred from the Pennsylvania machine shop to the roundhouse.

The Santa Fe system plans the erection of a $400,000 shop plant at Albuquerque, N. M., this year.

Charles Volz, who was hurt by a fall two weeks ago, has so far recovered as to be able to resume work in the Pennsylvania planing mills this morning.

Machinist M. T. O'Hara, of the Decatur shops of the Wabash, is here for a few days' visit. He resided here prior to the opening of the new shops, when he was one of the first to move to Decatur.

C. E. Rhine, F. Muehlenbruch, C. E. Madden, P. Neuman, C. F. Brown, M. C. Baker and John O. Bryant, Pennsylvania shopmen, are sick and off duty. Mr. Bryant reported for work this morning and was taken suddenly ill while at his lathe.

There is little doubt now but what Lima, O., will be one of the principal division points on the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton under the new management. The shops at Jackson, it is understood, will be removed to Lima. Jackson is near the southern terminus of the road, while Lima is centrally located between Detroit and Ironton.

Assistant Division Engineer Harvey Hall, of the Pennsylvania, will go to Chicago tomorrow to attend the meetings of the Railway Engineering and the Pennsylvania Maintenance of Way association, which opened three days sessions in that city this morning. Messrs. Scott and Barnaby went to Chicago for that purpose last night.

This is the last day Machinist Allen Hamilton, of the Pennsylvania shops, will work until after the democratic convention April 3, at which he will be up for nomination for trustee of Wayne township. Tomorrow Mr. Hamilton goes to Indianapolis to attend the state convention and upon his return he will "get busy" advancing his own candidacy here.

John B. Fowler, chief clerk to Division Storekeeper C. P. Cherry, of the Pennsylvania, was twenty-seven years old today, but unlike other good Irishmen, he worked instead of getting out and celebrating. Mr. Fowler is prominent in base ball circles in the city, being a good pitcher and an excellent short stop, in which capacities he was connected with the Pennsylvania league team for the past four years.

How to Eradicate All Superfluous Hair

Advice by a Skin Specialist

As soon as women of today learn that permanent removal of ugly, repulsive hair growths can only be gained by reaching the hair root and not by using common, worthless depilatories such as burning pastes, powders, evil smelling liquids, etc., the better it will be for their happiness and safety. Nor can the electric needle be depended upon to give absolutely perfect results without danger of horrible scars or facial paralysis. The best means I have ever found that never fails to remove all signs of disfiguring growths of hair on the face, neck, arms or hands is a simple, inexpensive preparation called Mrs. Osgood's Wonder. It is absolutely harmless, cannot injure the skin or complexion and in a surprisingly large number of cases has succeeded in killing the hair down to the very roots, source of all growth. When the roots are killed no more hair can grow. You can get Mrs. Osgood's Wonder from Meyer Bros. Drug Stores or any up-to-date druggist or department store, on the guarantee of your money back if it fails. Signed guarantee with every package. There is no longer need for any woman to suffer the embarrassment of this humiliating blemish. Let me caution you, however, not to apply this treatment except where total destruction of hair is desired.

An Old Recipe to Darken Hair

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you have darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.—Adv.

Feast Marks His 30 Years of Service in Advertising Field

Philadelphia, March 17.—In recognition of his thirty years' association with the business, N. W. Ayer & Son, advertising agents, dined Albert G. Bradford, member and financial manager of the firm.

Interest in this anniversary celebration is nation wide in newspaper and magazine circles, because there is no one man connected with advertising more widely and favorably known to publishers or who has been more closely identified with great achievements of modern publicity than Mr. Bradford. He has under his immediate direction the disbursing of immense sums for advertising space. It has been conservatively estimated that N. W. Ayer & Son have paid American publishers over $75,000,000.

Mr. Bradford's association with N. W. Ayer & Son began in 1884 as a bookkeeper. In 1898 he was made a member of the firm, which then consisted of F. Wayland Ayer and Henry N. McKinney. Jarvis A. Wood became a member at the same time, and later Wilfred W. Fry was taken into the partnership, all being seated at Mr. Bradford's right and left. The dinner was largely an "Ayer family" affair, over 270 present and past employes being present.

Several fine addresses were made, Mr. Ayer paying Mr. Bradford a particularly interesting tribute. During the evening S. Wilbur Corman, general manager of N. W. Ayer & Son, presented Mr. Bradford with a magnificent Seth Thomas grandfather's clock on behalf of the firm and its employes.

DRY WEATHER IS BIG FIRE MENACE

Fire Department Has Busy Session With Blazes on Roofs.

CAUSED BY SPARKS

Each day during the past week or longer the fire department has been called to make runs to fires caused from chimney sparks, and some days two, three or four fires are reported. Officials of the fire department say the blazes are due directly to a lack of rain. Fort Wayne has had no rain for nearly two months and with the sun shining brightly most of the time, shingle roofs have become very dry and easily catch on fire when sparks from chimneys alight on the dry roofing.

Three roof fires were reported yesterday, the last occurring at 11 o'clock Monday night, when the roof of the residence of Mrs. Evans, 423 Pearl street, was damaged to the extent of $15.

Another roof fire causing damage to the extent of $15 occurred this morning at the home of Mrs. M. Coleman, 401 East Jefferson street. For a time the blaze threatened to consume the entire roof of one wing of the building and the danger of the fire spreading was increased because of a strong westerly wind.

MISTAKE CHILD FOR BURGLAR.

Little Marie Jennings Shot by Her Father at Rome City.

Rome City, Ind., March 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Jennings of this place, have just given out the particulars of the shooting of their 12-year-old daughter, Marie, by her father, who fired at her in the dark supposing her to be a burglar. The distressing affair occurred on the night of March 7, but because the injured child wanted no one to know that it was by her father's hand she was injured, the accident was kept secret. The fact that the child was disabled by a gunshot wound finally leaked out and various sensational stories of gratuitous manufacture were put in circulation. The facts that the little girl, who had been ill, caused alarm by trying to make her way in the dark to the toilet. The noise aroused her mother, who had been having nervous apprehension of robbers, and Mr. Jennings was awakened and told a robber was in the room. He seized his revolver, which lay near, and fired. His daughter's piercing screams disclosed the shocking mistake. Dr. J. A. Barick of Wolcottville, was called and he dressed an ugly wound in the girl's arm. She will fully recover the use of it.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

A NERVOUS WRECK FROM ECZEMA

"I had eczema all over my body and was all run down and weak from loss of sleep. I was very nervous and was sometimes awake all night with the most horrible itching and I became almost a nervous wreck. I doctored several months without any improvement till I consulted Dr. Wells, of Fort Wayne, who cured me in less than five weeks. I want to recommend every one suffering with skin disease to Dr. Wells."

BENJAMIN SAWYER.
Bluffton, Ind.

Mr. Sawyer was in the hands of splendid physicians, but they failed to cure him because they, like most other practicing physicians, have paid so little attention to skin diseases, that they are not versed in the various treatments for this trouble. I have given the subject special study because I know the great number of sufferers who fail to get cured by the family physician. There are many such cases as the above. I cure them when the other doctor fails.

WINS CASE AFTER 20 YEARS.

Illinoisan to Get Judgment for Loss of Leg When a Child.

Washington, March 17.—After litigation lasting twenty years, Edward Gobin, of St. Clair county, Illinois, will obtain judgment of about $2,000 for the loss of a leg when 2 years old on the Louisville, Evansville and St. Louis Consolidated Railroad company.

Suing through his mother, Gobin obtained a judgment of $3,000 and the cost of the suit in the circuit court of St. Clair county. The appellate court of the fourth circuit affirmed the judgment, and the railroad executed a bond through H. J. Mackay to permit a stay of judgment pending an appeal. Although Mackay was a non-resident of Illinois, Thomas May, jr., clerk of the St. Clair circuit court, accepted the bond. The railroad went into the hands of a receiver and Gobin sued May.

The case came to the supreme court from the supreme court of Illinois on a writ of error filed by May and his bondsmen and today the federal supreme court dismissed the case for want of jurisdiction.

SUES HIS ALLEGED CAPTORS.

Creamery Manager Asserts He Was Victim of Inquisition 4 Days.

Indianapolis, March 17.—Arthur E. Robertson, formerly local manager of the Blue Valley Creamery company, sued in the superior court yesterday for $100,000 damages, alleging he was made the victim of a "grand inquisition" and was held captive in a room at the Claypool hotel for four days in an effort to get him to confess an alleged embezzlement, then thrust into a dungeon at the police station for twenty-four hours without food, drink or bed and finally put in a cell in the county jail.

Robertson, according to his complaint, on March 3 was called to the Claypool hotel to meet officers of the company.

As soon as the door closed behind him, Robertson alleges, he found himself in the hands of E. F. Hezner and A. H. Payne, two Chicago detectives; Fred W. Bentley, a Chicago attorney, and W. Edwin Smith and J. A. Walker, officers of the Blue Valley Creamery company.

TO BAR "WETS" FROM CHURCH.

Aurora Pastor Causes Consternation by Announcement.

Aurora, Ill., March 17.—Rev. D. D. Vaughn, pastor of the Galena Boulevard Methodist Episcopal church, created a furore among his parishioners when in an address at a local option meeting yesterday he said he would expel all men from his church who voted "wet" at the election, April 7. Some of the city's most prominent and wealthy men are members of his church and it is known that among them are some who are opposed to a dry city. "I have been told that there are men in my church who are going to vote "wet," Mr. Vaughn said. "If there is any man who is a member of my church and who intends to vote in this coming election I will be pleased if he will let me know so that I can withdraw his name from the rolls of the Galena Boulevard Methodist church."

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, March 17. Wheat took a downward trend today on account of light rains as a few points in Kansas. The suggestion of relief from dry weather danger southwest proved to be sufficient to turn speculative sentiment. Opening prices were a shade to ½@¾c lower and there was an additional subsequent decline.

Favorable crop reports from Argentine tended to make corn easy. The market opened a shade lower to ⅛c up and then ragged all around.

Oats showed weakness owing to the set-back in other grain and because of the large stocks in sight.

Lower prices for hogs put a handicap on provisions. The downward changes in quotations, though were not of a radical sort.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, March 17.—The market opened quiet and steady, with no changes of importance among the leading stocks. There were further wide fluctuations in issues which recently have been weak. Kansas and Texas opened at 44¾, the lowest since 1901. New Haven receded one. Extension of Rumely's note issue caused the preferred stock to rise nearly two points.

The cumulative effect of persistent buying on recent recessions was apparent in the stock market today. Failure to unsettle the list by concerted pressure on New Haven and Kansas & Texas issues revealed the strong technical position of the market and gave an opportunity for a squeeze of the shorts. Buying was promoted by reports of pending favorable developments in the Mexican situation while they apparently had no authentic origin influenced trading widely. Bonds were irregular.

The market closed steady.

DAILY MARKET LETTER.

(Furnished by J. S. Phillips, North American Building, Fort Wayne, Ind.)

Chicago, March 17.—A good demand for cash corn in the southwest was the Tuesday feature. This kept corn from declining at Chicago. Foreign wheat demand still quiet. Kansas received some rains. Primary corn receipts continue liberal. Liverpool wheat came ½c to ⅝c up. Antwerp for a full week has ruled unchanged. West had another big run of hogs and in two days has received about 85,000 hogs above last year. This is the cleaning up before spring farm work. March 15th statement of Chicago provision stocks is quite friendly to the list. Grain market are very quiet. Early range today in wheat and corn being ½ cent. May corn closing strong at 68 cents.

COURTS DEFY WASHINGTON.

Issue Orders for Payment of Back Salaries to Court Employes.

Chicago, March 17.—In defiance of an order from the department of justice at Washington, Federal Judges Carpenter and Landis yesterday issued a joint order providing for the payment in full of the back salaries for January and February of the employes in the Chicago office of the clerk of the federal district court. T. C. Macmillan, clerk of the court, received notice several months ago that the salaries of employes in his office must be paid out of not to exceed 50 per cent. of the office's receipts. According to Macmillan this meant that the salaries would have to be cut or a number of clerks laid off. The judges made an investigation and found none of the present force could be spared, although fifty per cent. of the receipts will not cover the pay roll. Officers salaries for January and February had been held up pending the outcome of the investigation.

while in St. Lazare prison. Her husband today took an affecting leave of the officials of the ministry of finance. Acting on information given by Madame Caillaux the police today took possession of various papers in the office of the editor of Figaro. It is understood that among these papers were various private letters written by M. Caillaux to his present wife before they were married and while she was still the wife of Leo Clarte.

It is generally supposed that Mme. Caillaux had received an intimation that Calmette was about to publish these letters and is was this that led her to attack him. Calmette was a bitter political foe of Caillaux.

Madame Caillaux when she was taken from the police station to St. Lazare prison after committing the crime, was accompanied by Arthur Leymar, chief private secretary of the minister of war. She conversed calmly with him.

"My husband is one of the most honest of men," she said. "The press campaign which has been carried on against him for some time is frightful. I tremble every morning when I open the newspapers."

The prisoner's composure failed, however, when the chief warden of St. Lazare prison told her she was to be put in a cell.

18 MEN NOW ASK PARDON

Smith, George Anderson, William E. Reddin, Frank L. Painter, Henry W. Legleitner, Ernest G. W. Basey, Eugene A. Clancy, Michel J. Hannon, William Shue and Michael J. Cunnane.

The supreme court, on March 9, refused to review the conviction of these and six other members of the iron workers union. Most of the papers filed were in support of charges against Judge Anderson's conduct of the case.

Judge Anderson Criticized.

The application alleged that Judge Anderson allowed only such exceptions to his rulings as suited his fancy; that he repeatedly seized opportunity to make long speeches to the jury commenting upon the facts in a way calculated to show that the defendants were guilty and that he ridiculed and intimidated counsel and witnesses for the defense.

In a supplemental letter to President Wilson Attorney Zoline stated that a special train to convey the defendants to Leavenworth penitentiary was ordered forty days before the verdict by the jury, and that the men were on their way to the penitentiary one hour after sentences were passed upon them. He added that without reason, Judge Anderson during the trial walked from his residence to his court room accompanied by police, many times in view of the jury. Thus, he urged, the jury gained the impression that a state of lawlessness existed in Indianapolis which Judge Anderson knew was not the case.

It is also alleged that Judge Anderson, during the trial frequently consulted with the attorney of the Erectors association and heard suggestions from him privately in the absence of the defendants and their counsel.

Reads From Manuscript.

In support of his charge that Judge Anderson ridiculed counsel for the defendants, Mr. Zoline read from the transcript of the trial record where Judge Anderson, in reply to Senator Kern, of counsel for the defense, said he could not "control a lot of school boys."

Judge Anderson's statement in Chester H. Krum, formerly United States district attorney and judge in St. Louis, that "you exhibit strange ignorance as to the practice of attorneys in court in asking me to note an exception," was also referred to.

To another attorney for the defense, Mr. Hoovey, Judge Anderson was quoted as saying: "Mr. Marshal, you put that man down in his seat. And I will tell you another thing, I am not going to have any more trouble with you in this case. This is the third time I have had to make you sit down and the next time you attempt to do this I will put you where you will have to give some bond yourself. Do you hear me?"

Judge Anderson probably will be asked by the department of justice to make such statement as he may care to do in regard to the application.

HAS FRACTURED KNEE CAP.

Several X-ray pictures were taken yesterday evening at the Lutheran hospital to determine the nature of the injuries sustained by Captain Ferdinand Schroeder, who was hurled to the pavement in the collision of the hose cart and an automobile disclosed the fact that he is suffering from a fractured knee cap. It was at first thought that the captain's left ankle was fractured but the picture showed that this was untrue.

Twenty members of the Central Electric Railway association met in Fort Wayne today and transacted regular business. Officials of the organization stated that no new business was introduced. The meeting was held at the Anthony hotel.

THE WEATHER.

OFFICIAL FORECASTS.

For Fort Wayne and Vicinity—Cloudy tonight; Thursday fair and colder; lowest temperature tonight about freezing.

For Indiana—Cloudy tonight with colder in northwest portion; Wednesday fair and colder.

For Ohio—Local rains tonight; Wednesday cloudy and colder.

For Lower Michigan—Snow and colder tonight; Wednesday fair with colder in southeast portion.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

A moderate storm which is passing eastward across the lake region has given some light rain or snow during the last 24 hours over the upper lake region and the upper Mississippi valley; some light rain is reported from the middle Missouri valley; over practically all other sections of the country fair weather has prevailed since yesterday morning.

Somewhat colder weather is spreading southeastward from the British Northwest, although no very cold weather is reported from that section, the lowest temperatures reported being from 8 to 12 degrees above zero over Manitoba.

Cloudy weather is probable for this section tonight with lowest temperature about freezing, and Wednesday will be fair and colder. These conditions indicated that the Maumee river at Fort Wayne, which has now reached the stage of 12.1 feet, will rise but little more, and that the flood stage of 15.0 feet will not be reached.

HOLE EXCITES SUSPICION.

Believed to Be Hiding Place of Stolen Goods.

Princeton, Ind., March 18.—A hole in a hillside in an out of the way place a half mile west of the city, is believed to have held several hundred dollars' worth of kodaks, leather goods, clothing and groceries, stolen from various stores here in December. The night of February 22, in a heavy snowstorm, a wagon and team of mules were seen by members of the W. D. Downey family, passing through their private driveway into the Hall's hill farm. It is thought that stolen goods placed in a large box were removed the night of February 22. Another theory is that a stranger who died here in 1896, and from whose body $20,000 disappeared, may have been buried there.

WATKINS SCORES LIQUOR TRAFFIC

Gives Closing Address at the County Prohibition Convention.

PARTY IS GROWING

Delivering the closing address of the county prohibition convention Tuesday evening at the assembly room of the court house, Hon. Aaron S. Watkins, of Columbus, Ohio, twice a candidate for vice president on the prohibition ticket, declared that traffic in liquor was not only the cause of most of the crimes committed in the present age, but that none of the economic or social problems of the country can be settled until constitutional action is taken in the suppression of liquor.

In part Mr. Watkins said:

"Two and one-quarter billion dollars is spent each year in this country for liquor. The whisky traffic is the course of the country. If all the wheat and corn raised in this country in 1913 could be sold and the money put together it would not equal the amount spent in the same year for booze. Isn't this appalling?

Some Big Figures.

"No nation has been able to stand such a drain as that and it is high time that we were doing something to get rid of it. You can take all the horses in this country and sell them for their actual worth and the money would not be equal to the amount spent for liquor. If all the money spent for liquor in this country was turned into silver dollars, it would take 1,500 flat cars to transport it and it would take an army of men one year with scoop shovels to unload it.

"All of this money goes over the counter of the licensed saloons, my friends. In Chicago the authorities started an investigation to find out why so many children were compelled to go to school each morning without anything to eat. But when the authorities found that the parents were spending their money for drink, the investigation was dropped.

"If all the money now being spent for booze was spent for bread it would make a bread line one loaf deep and one-sixth of a mile wide, reaching from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Think of it! It not only takes away our finances, but it takes away human lives. The lowest estimate shows that 100,000 people a year die from the effects of liquor. General Hobson says there are 700,000 and Dr. McNickell says the number is 600,000. Even though it be but 100,000, isn't it appalling?

"That means a battleship Maine blown up every day, a Titanic every five days and a Johnstown flood every six days. Most all the cases of insanity are attributed to the liquor traffic. The white slave traffic can be solved when the liquor traffic is solved and not before. The divorce question will be solved when the liquor question is solved and not before. The women get most of the divorces and the men do most of the drinking. Four causes are attributed to the divorce evil—the first is drunkenness, desertion next, cruelty and failure to provide. Liquor is at the head of the list in all these cases. Men have been attempting to solve the city problems. They are trying to give us commission government, but commission government means that the city is not capable of governing itself, so a boss has to be hired to do it. There is only one way to solve the city problem and that is to solve the liquor problem."

Mistletoe is popular on the English market for the holidays, and comes from France. Statistics are not available for last season, but in 1912 the London and Southwestern railway alone handled 1,500,00 bunches, weighing 650 tons and worth $300,000.

"Little Mother" is a Real Heroine

Margaret O'Connell.

New York, March 18.—A month ago Margaret O'Connell, 11 years old, was one of six occupants of a very humble little home at 383 Warren street, Brooklyn.

The father was shot and killed by a burglar. A couple of weeks later Mrs. O'Connell fell and broke her leg. She was taken to the hospital. Neighbors reported the plight of the four children to the Children society, who sent an agent to take them to an institution.

"No," said Margaret. "I'll be housekeeper and take care of the children till mamma comes home!"

What's more she's doing it! She does the cooking, and her little brothers and sisters help her with the rest of the house work. She gets the three smaller ones ready and they all go to school.

AMERICAN IS APPOINTED.

H. L. Cooper to Supervise Building of Big Nile Dam.

Rochester, Minn., March 18.—Hugh L. Copper, a former Rochester resident and builder of the big dam at Keokuk, Ia., has been appointed consulting hydro-electric engineer for the Egyptian government.

Mr. Cooper won the distinction in competition with the best engineers of Italy, Switzerland and England after submitting plans and specifications for the proposed dam over the Nile, which will be one of the largest engineering feats in the world.

While he will have supervision of the work for the government of Egypt, he will not have practical charge of the construction, but will maintain offices in New York, where he will supervise the work. Mr. Cooper is now en route from Paris to New York. It is said that the Egyptian government paid him a small fortune for his plans of the Nile dam.

GIRL MARTYR IS HONORED.

University of Illinois Students Plan Permanent Memorial.

Champaign, Ill., March 18.—University of Illinois students Sunday paid tribute to the memory of Miss Ona Reno, who died during the scarlet fever scare while ministering to the patients in the student ward of the Julia F. Burnham hospital. Miss Reno, a 21-year-old freshman nurse, volunteered for duty, although warned of the danger she encountered. She contracted the disease from another student, who also died. Miss Reno was as much a hero as if she had died in battle, she the Rev. Martin E. Anderson, who spoke in McKinley Memorial church. A permanent memorial to her is planned.
